SKINNY KRIBBLES

Around And About Town

With C. F. (Skinny) SKIRVIN

(C. F. "Skinny" Skirvin, who has been called Santa Ana's most successful citizen because of his many friends, today is 70 years old. As a birthday present, his friend Carl Fisher, assistant foreman of The Journal's composing room, wrote today's column. The two met in 1914 when "Skinny" gave Carl his first job on the Daily Gate City, of Keokuk, Iowa. Fate later brought them together in California.—Editor's note.)

PRELUDE

On November 13, 1867 the village blacksmith proudly stood in the doorway of his Coatsburg, Illinois, establishment and freely passed among his friends some dark-leafed Virginia Cheroots. The occasion for this generosity was the fact that Papa Blacksmith had an heir, a son of whom some day the folks would say: "The smith, a mighty man is he, with large and sinewy hands."

The farmer folk of this Adams county community were not satisfied with just free stogies . . . they were anxious to see this great strong son, who would some day wrestle with anvils and red-hot iron. So the proud papa arranged for an exhibit of this new bundle from Heaven.

The populace with a bad taste in their mouths from the putrid Cheroots were further provoked when the "preview" showed a miniature Singer midget tucked gently in an old feather mattress. They accused papa of false advertising, fraud and treason. This somewhat humiliated the village smith and he immediately set himself to thinking about the little heir's future.

A few years of serious thinking elapse and the once proud father is still trying to live down the fact that his mighty blacksmith son would make a better jockey.

* * *

About this time news was trickling in from nearby Quincy that down the river the town of Hannibal, Mo., was all agog over the success of Missouri's native son, one Samuel Langhorne Clemens, better known as Mark Twain. It seems that this lad stepped out into the world and was engaged in newspaper work in the role of editor and reporter 'way out in Nevada and California, and just recently had written a book entitled "The Jumping Frog."

"That settles it," said the irate dad, "the pen is mightier than a blacksmith's sledge any day, and if my son cannot swing a sledge, he certainly can lift a pen."

So the family starts out via prairie schooner for the far west. At Creston, Iowa, Papa Blacksmith decides that this community would be an excellent place for him to again engage in the business of giving horses in that vicinity the latest in arch supports, and also the ideal spot for "sonny boy" to begin his journalistic rise when he became more advanced in age.

* * *

Our hero is now 12 years old and still no bigger than Charlie McCarthy. But at this age sons are wont to ask questions and fathers are reticent with answers. However papa did say that son was christened Clayton, but that the name Skinny suited him better. He also told him that the year after he was born was an election year and that Ulysses S. Grant, a Republican, was elected president over a Democratic candidate by the name of Horatio Seymour. This naturally made our hero a Republican and being a Republican it was natural for the young son to immediately wish to get hold or a newspaper and try and convince all the readers that if the owner is a Republican, so must the subscribers be.

* * *

With a Frank Merriwell start of carrying a paper route our hero starts his climb. From carrier to office boy and on to circulation manager of The Creston Advertiser. It was at this point that the circulation gained in leaps and bounds. One story goes that our ambitious hero offered to build a new church for the community. The board of directors of this new edifice were somewhat perplexed that such an extravagant offer would be tendered by a circulation manager of a newspaper. They held a meeting and on asking our hero if there were any strings attached to the deal he replied: "Absolutely none, only one thing I ask be done and that is when the parson finishes his sermon, instead of saying, 'Amen,' he ends with: 'Subscribe to The Advertiser'."

At this point the owner of the paper decides it would be cheaper to work for this ambitious young

Howard On Limb As Bookies Lose

POLICE CHIEF FACES SUIT IF SHOP CLOSED

Judge Ames Dissolves Restraining Order

The way was open for Police Chief Floyd W. Howard to padlock the Santa Ana Forwarding company, so-called "legal bookies" taking bets on Bay Meadows horse races.

It was open, however, only if Howard wants to gamble on a favorable decision by the courts. Should the courts find the business legal, Howard fears a lawsuit.

"I'm going to have them watched," Howard said today, "and and if I can find anything illegal I'll close them up."

These developments came following a hearing in superior court yesterday afternoon which saw Presiding Superior Judge H. G. Ames dissolve a temporary restraining order and dismiss an injunction suit brought against Howard, Sheriff Logan Jackson and Dist. Atty. W. F. Menton to prevent them from interfering with operations of the concern. Victors in the arguments were Asst. Dist. Atty. Preston Turner, representing Menton, and Adrian Marks, attorney for Chief Howard.

Sam Winogura, one of three operators of the "bookie" agency, lost that legal move, which he hoped would insure him against interference by police. His attorney, Z. B. West, filed oral notice of appeal from Judge Ames' decision and may take the case to the appellate court should Howard interfere with the agency.

Howard is out on a legal limb. Atty.-Gen. U. S. Webb has ruled such establishments, which claim to transmit bets to an agent who

Balloon Hits Wire; Million Frenchmen Left in Darkness

CHAUMONT, France. (AP) — A runaway British balloon crashed today near Signeville, 15 miles from Chaumont, after drifting wildly across the English channel and Northern France.

No one was aboard.

The balloon, belonging to the British Air Force and carrying valuable meteorological instruments, broke loose from its moorings at an airdrome last night, with two miles of cable dangling. This cable wrecked French power lines, depriving a million persons of electric light.

Merriam Unhurt In Auto Crash

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Fred H. Wonder and Jack King were recovering from bruises and shock today as the result of a collision of an automobile, driven by Wonder, which collided with a car in which Gov. Frank Merriam was a passenger.

The governor and State Officer J. G. Jarvis, driver of the governor's car, escaped injury. It was the second accident in which the governor figured within recent months.

Tiny Travelers Ask Police Aid To Find Mother

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Loaded with hat boxes and little suit cases, three tiny travelers from San Francisco walked solemnly into the Georgia street police station today and asked officers to please find their mother.

They were Joy Gates, 9; her sister Patsy, 8; and a brother, Jerry H. 4.

Acting as spokesman, Joy told police their father, Grant Gates, put them on a bus at San Francisco last night and told them to go to a hotel where their mother, Mrs. Verda Gates, was stopping. There they were informed their mother had moved.

Police soon located Mrs. Gates, who was stopping with an aunt and uncle in San Pedro and a radio patrol car brought her to the youngsters.

UNION SUED FOR $90,000

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Francis H. Black, one of the California assembly interim committee's witnesses in the hearing on labor racketeering charges in Hollywood film studios, filed a $90,000 damage suit against officials of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employes today.

The complaint charged conspiracy, oppression, fraud and malance on the part of officials of the alliance, who, he said, brought about his discharge as an electrician employed at Warner Brothers' studio. Black said he was discharged after he protested a 2 per cent levy on his salary as imposed by the alliance.

Among the defendants named in the suit are George Browne, president; Harland Holdman, vice president; Steve B. Newman, international representative, and William Bioff, business agent of the union.

Holmden and Boiff are under subpoena to testify at the hearing when it reopens Monday. Newman was on the stand yesterday.

ITALY FIGHTS SANCTIONS FOR JAPS

Brussels Conference Reaches Deadlock

BRUSSELS. (AP) — China's demand for what would amount to sanctions against Japau was dramatically opposed by Italy today in the Brussels conference seeking to end the Chinese-Japanese war.

The Chinese delegate, Dr. V. K. Wellington Koo, urged a conference decision to withhold war materials and credits from Japan and supply them to China.

This evoked immediate objection from Count Lugi Aldovrandi-Marescotti, delegate of Italy, against which the League of Nations decreed sanctions because of her invasion of Ethiopia and which has been Japan's friend at Brussels.

"That is entirely ruled out," said the Italian. "We are not here for that. It is entirely outside the scope of the conference."

Nevertheless the United States, British and French delegations presented the conference with a draft of a joint declaration stressing the illegality of Japan's military action in China and asserting it amounted to defiance of the whole world.

Previously the conference had

FIRST SUICIDE AT ALCATRAZ

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Alcatraz Island's first suicide occurred today when Edward Wutke, 36, serving 27 years for murder on the high seas, slashed his juglar veins and bled to death in his cell.

Wutke fashioned the death weapon from a pencil sharpener blade and the handle of a safety razor.

The convicts on the so-called "Devil's Island" have access to pencil sharpeners, Warden James A. Johnson said, but razor blades are taken from them when they finish shaving.

Sentenced in March, 1934, Wutke was transferred from McNeil Island penitentiary the following August. He was convicted of slaying a seaman aboard the old coastwise steamer Yale.

Motherhood Wins Decision Over Teaching Job

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—The Los Angeles board of education has been saved a decision in the knotty problem of how many leaves a teacher should be granted for motherhood by the resignation of Mrs. Grace Z. Reilly, a teacher who now lives in Oakland.

Mrs. Reilly had asked her fourth consecutive leave to prepare for the stork and the board had delayed its decision. Yesterday it received her resignation.

Royal Calm Unbroken by Lunatic Heckler

RACKETEERS HIT TURKEYS

Investigation of what Sheriff Logan Jackson termed a "protection racket" was spurred today after a Buena Park woman added a new complaint to the sheriff's office that a man dressed in an "official-looking uniform" had attempted to "high-pressure" her into buying a sign to post on her turkey ranch.

The woman said the man had flashed a badge and asked her to buy a sign stating her ranch was being protected by a certain Los Angeles private detective agency. The sign, she reported, was the only protection the man promised. Several turkeys had been stolen from the ranch within the past few days, deputy sheriffs learned.

An investigation of numerous similar complaints was launched earlier this week when many ranchers complained the private detective's agent had accompanied sales talks with implied threats that "something might happen to your poultry" if they failed to buy the sign.

Maj. Bowes' Home, Art Gallery Burn

OSSINING, N. Y. (AP)—Laurel Hill, the country home of Major Edward Bowes, radio and theatrical producer, was in ruins today from a fire of undetermined origin.

More than 100 paintings and many art treasures collected by Major Bowes were destroyed with the house, a rambling wooden structure of 15 or 16 rooms.

Car Cracks Skull Of Film Writer

HOLLYWOOD. (AP)—Donald Ogden Stewart, 42, fiction and film writer, was critically injured early today when struck by an automobile as he walked across Hollywood boulevard in downtown Hollywood.

He was taken to the Hollywood receiving hospital where a preliminary examination showed a possible basal skull fracture. He also suffered multiple lacerations.

Pastor Won't Apologize To Duke

PARIS. (AP)—The Rev. J. L. C. Dart—asked by his superior for information on his rebuff to the Duke of Windsor—said today he probably would answer but "no one on this earth has the ecclesiastical right to demand an explanation of me; neither the Bishop of Fulham, the Archbishop of Canterbury nor anyone else."

The Rt. Rev. Basil Staunton Batty, Bishop of Fulham, wrote from England asking details of the situation created by the Rev. Dart's remarks on Windsor's plan to attend Armistice day services at St. George's church.

The Rev. Dart had said "I would rather the duke did not attend the services."

Love Killer Calm At Arraignment

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Paul A. Wright, airport executive, was arraigned in 90 seconds today for the slaying of his wife, Evelyn, and John Kimmel, his best friend.

Wright's counsel waived the formal reading of the complaint charging him with murder on two counts. Police Judge Frank Lowe set Wright's preliminary hearing for next Thursday.

Wright gave no visible show of emotion as he was brought into court. He was pale and haggard. Jailers said he has slept little, and fitfully, since he summoned officers to his home early last Tuesday morning, telling them he had shot his wife and Kimmel in a jealous rage when he found them embracing on a piano stool in the living room.

Cow Now Classed As Museum Piece

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Two cows are the most recent addition to the national zoo. Officials said they were put on exhibition for the benefit of city-bred children who may not know the origin of milk.

3 HELD IN KIDNAPING

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—The state charged three ex-convicts with kidnaping under the "Lindbergh law" today while physicians gave the abduction victim, Dr. James I. Seder, 79, retired prohibition worker, "very little chance" to live.

Dr. A. K. Keesler said transfusions and an oxygen tent failed to stop the ravages of pneumonia which the physician asserted was brought on by exposure during Dr. Seder's 10-day confinement in an abandoned mine.

R. E. Vetterli of the Federal Bureau of Investigation said the three, Arnett, Booth, John Travis and Orville Atkins, admitted participation in the abduction and extortion attempt.

Vatterli said the kidnapers demanded $500,000 ransom from the victim's two sons, warning "pay if you want your father back alive." No money was paid, he said.

NO FEDERAL FUNDS TILL JANUARY

Solons Stick To Farm Bills

By HERBERT A. YOCOM
Associated Press California Correspondent.

WASHINGTON. (AP) — California's big delegation, silent for the most part on the five-point legislative program outlined by President Roosevelt, pointed today at numerous objectives of its own in the special session of congress opening today.

Some confusion existed, however, as to what the delegation could hope to accomplish in the way of legislation of peculiarly local interest, and for these reasons:

1. Few measures left over from the last regular session were in strategic position on the calendar of either house or senate.

2. Absense of word from administration leaders as to whether they planned to restrict the work of the special session to the President's program of crop control, wage and hour standards, regional planning, executive reorganization and stronger anti-trust laws.

One thing was certain: That none of the regular departmental supply bills, carrying millions for expenditure in the golden state, would be acted on during the session.

Hence Californians cannot look for new appropriations before January for continuing such projects as the $170,00,000 central valleys undertaking; the $13,500,000 naval air station at Alameda, or for starting numerous river and harbor projects authorized at the last session.

While ambitious programs were outlined tentatively by several members of the California delegation, at least one matter was sure

Swims Mile to Aid Companions

NEW YORK. (AP)—Gustav Eklund, 42, Long Island lobster man, swam a mile through icy stormtossed waters today to bring help to two companions clinging to an overturned boat.

Eklund, with Harry Lawson and Charles Anderson, set out yesterday in a 30-foot skiff. The motor went dead last night and at dawn a wave upset the craft off the Rockaways.

Eklund was nearly exhausted when he reached shore and told the Coast Guard of his friends' plight. A surfboat brought them to safety.

Truth About the Cost Of Civil Service!

BY BRADEN FINCH

In a wild, last-minute attempt to defeat the civil service measure at the polls Tuesday, opponents of the merit system have resorted to the shallow claim that civil service "will increase taxes."

They have been forced into this painful and untenable position, as the relentless light of truth has exposed, one after another, their earlier erroneous and misleading assertions that civil service means "jobs for life" and "pensions."

This final desperate effort to cloud the air is just as wrong and unsupportable as the previous ones.

For instance, consider this inaccurate statement printed and circulated in Santa Ana yesterday:

In the first place there will be a civil service board of several members and they all will have to be paid. Then there will be fat lawyers' fees, to say nothing of stenographers, clerks and office space.

Let's turn the X-ray of truth on that colossal error.

1. It is said that board members will have to be paid That is an unwarranted assumption. The ordinance makes no provisions for salaries. Board members may serve free, like those civic-spirited citizens on the library, school, traffic and planning groups; or the board facilities of some other city or state may be used at a nominal cost.

2. It is claimed that there will be fat attorneys' fees. This is another unjustified assertion. Legal matters of the board for the city will be handled by the city attorney as part of his regular job at no extra cost.

3. It is alleged that stenographers and clerks will be needed. The simple truth is that the present municipal force at city hall will be able to do most of the work required for records at no added expense. Perhaps there may be occasional need for assistance, but it should be slight.

4. It is intimated that office space will have to be rented. Another faulty conclusion. The city has plenty of vacant rooms for records and examinations at city hall.

As a matter of fact, the entire cost of civil service improvement should run extremely low, including all expenses.

Civil service for policemen and firemen will mean a more efficient, effective, experienced set-up for Santa Ana.

It outlaws politics and it improves the working conditions of the men.

A "YES" VOTE TUESDAY WILL BE A DISTINCT STEP FORWARD IN THE AFFAIRS OF YOUR CITY GOVERNMENT.

AGED MAN IS HELD IN JAIL

His face battered and his memory erratic, William P. Weber, 48, walked into the California highway patrol office last night to report an accident.

The accident, he said, occurred Wednesday "sometime between 5:30 and 6:30 o'clock, some place between Laguna Beach and Doheny Park."

Today the lifeless body of red-haired Donald Hachez, 14, South Laguna, lay in Laguna Beach funeral home. He was killed in an accident at about 6:30 p. m. Wednesday just south of Laguna Beach. The car that struck him sped away into the dush.

Weber, who gave his address as 545 Legion street, Laguna Beach, was confined in the county jail today, charged with felony hit-and-run driving.

Something had struck and broken his windshield Wednesday evening, he told highway patrolmen. The shattered glass slashed his face and dazed him, he said.

Weber told highway patrolmen he continued driving as far as San Clemente, where he parked the car in a garage belonging to Lylah H. McDermott, 147 Ramona street. The car was registered to Mrs. McDermott.

A fender on the blood-splattered car had been smashed, investigating officers reported, and tire tread marks and broken glass tentatively identified it as the one involved in the Hachez boy's death.

Weber was to be arraigned on hit-run charges in Laguna Beach this morning. Coroner Earl Abbey will conduct an inquest into young Hache's death at 33 p. m. Monday in the Laguna Beach funeral home.

SKINNY SKRIBBLES

chap than have our hero work for him. Thus we have C. F. (Skinny) Skirvin, owner and publisher of The Creston Advertiser.

Time Marches On—Skinny is looking for more fertile fields and locates a good Republican paper in Southeastern Iowa. For 18 years he is owner and publisher of The Keokuk (Iowa) Daily Gate City, and a political power in that section of the state.

The call of the west comes along and we find our hero transplanted to Southern California, but this time it is orange groves, oil wells and almond ranches.

But the smell of printers' ink is still in his nostrils and Skinny's weakness is our gain . . . and through his weakness we are given daily "Skinny Skribbles."

Dear Skinny:

Seventy years is a long time, when we look ahead, but on retarding our glances we find that time is not so long after all.

Seventy years and you have no doubt seen a lot of changes. On the other hand you probably have seen history repeat itself time and again. Let's look back to 1868.

In that year we find that Articles of Impeachment were set against President Andrew Johnson. The senate voted 35 to 19 charging him guilty of high misdeamor. Thirty-five to 19 is not two-thirds majority and he was acquitted. Wonder if there are not certain persons today who would give anything to see history repeat.

Seventy years ago and we are told of a great commercial depression . . . revenue commissioner recommending "peace, retrenchment and reform" . . . the total debt is $2,641,002,572 . . . and the President is making reconstruction speeches . . . if that is not enough for parallel comparison check up on Spain, and what do we find? . . . you guessed it Skinny, at that time there was another Spanish revolution.

Maybe Time marches on—but somehow I believe it marches back also.

Seventy years, eh Skinny! The folks of Santa Ana wish you seventy more and if the One above is considerate enough to permit such a wish, I know we will find you hobbling, and bobbing around like a cork on water, visiting your daily haunts, an item here, a piece of confidential news there and so on . . . and in the next seventy years I am confident you will pursue the same code of old-time newspaper ethics as you have done in the past . . . and that is to never betray a trust—when something is given to you in an "off-the-record" conversation you treat it as such and forget what a choice piece of front-page news it would have made.

So here's wishing you many more happy returns, Skinny, and I know the femme friend would say: "Them there is my sentiments, too." C. E. F.

H. B. YOUTHS HELD

Several recent malicious mischief and petty theft cases were believed cleared today with the arrest of two minor Huntington Beach youths who allegedly admitted emptying about 30 gallons of gas from several tractors, stripping a car, and stealing a drop cloth and leather bag from another car. The boys were arrested after a complaint had been received yesterday from G. L. Harper, Huntington Beach rancher, that his tractor had been dismantled.

Brazil Ruled by Dictator

Farm Bills First Concern Of Congress Short Session

to have the undivided attention of the entire group. This was the treasury proposal to increase federal revenues by compelling husband and wife in community property states such as California to lump their incomes for federal tax purposes.

Every member of the delegation went on record against the proposal at the last session, while Representative Frank H. Buck, Vacaville Democrat and member of a house ways and means subcommittee, announced he would oppose it in committee.

Pre-session developments included:

Representative B. W. Gearhart, Fresno Republican, announced he expected to introduce a series of bills defining as "crimes" numerous practices not covered by the trade commission in a recently concluded investigation of the eastern terminal markets for fresh fruits and vegetables.

Gearhart said he planned also to seek enactment of his bill imposing an excise tax on imports of dried and frozen eggs, which may approach 30,000,000 dozen this year, he said; support legislation imposing rigid sanitary standards on foreign producers of dairy products sold in this country, thereby erecting "a practical embargo" against those goods.

Legislation dealing with problems arising from the influx of transients would be the main objective of Representative H. Jerry Voorhis, San Dimas Democrat, he announced.

WASHINGTON. (AP) — Congress will tackle unfinished farm and labor legislation in a special session already overcast by concern about the business outlook.

Although pledged to make crop control the first business, there were indications from some members that possible steps to improve the economic situation were uppermost in their minds.

Chairman O'Connor (D., N. Y.) of the house rules committee suggested congress try to stimulate business by immediate tax revision.

Speaker Bankhead, however, said tax revision was "too big a problem" for hasty action. He and other leaders went ahead with plans to stick to the legislation the President has asked: crop control, wage-hour, government reorganization and regional planning.

The senate and house will meet until the Christmas holidays and then adjourn until the regular 1938 session begins on Jan. 3. Tax revision probably will hold over until that time, as will revision of the anti-trust laws.

Chairman Jones (D., Tex.) reported last night the house agriculture committee was virtually agreed on a bill embodying the principal of voluntary crop control without processing taxes. Some senators are insisting on compulsory control.

Jones said the house bill would increase expenditures for agriculture about $175,000,000 to $200,000,000 a year.

While awaiting the farm bill, both house and senate may debate government reorganization. Mr. Roosevelt has advocated it for the sake of efficiency, but opponents have contended the bill would give too much power to the chief executive.

The senate also has an agreement to take up anti-lynching legislation after crop control. The former is being opposed by many southern members on the ground that states are solving the problem by themselves.

Southerners also are fighting the wage-hour bill, past last summer by the senate and now held up in the house rules committee.

Revision of the anti-trust laws originally was the fifth item on the President's special session program, but justice department officials said it would be some time before they complete their recommendations. Attorney General Cummings discussed the statutes with Mr. Roosevelt for an hour yesterday after an unusually long cabinet meeting.

WASHINGTON. (AP) — Controversies over methods of crop control and its financing dimmed today the prospects for speedy enactment of farm legislation at the special session of congress.

The house agricultural committee agreed informally yesterday to discard demands for arbitrary marketing quotas for wheat, cotton and rice which farmers could approve or reject. It tactily approved quotas for tobacco but deferred a decision on corn.

Some farm members in the house contended the President's wishes could be carried out most expeditiously by combining authorization for increased benefits with a tax bill. Chairman Jones (D., Texas) said, however, the agricultural committee decided it would be "better from a practical and legal viewpoint" to follow the usual procedure of separating the legislation.

HARRISBURG, W. Va. (AP)—Louis J. Taber, master of the National grange, announced today he would give a special committee of 18 the task of drafting for recommendation to the delegate body the organization's policy respecting farm legislation.

The committee, composed of members of the National grange committees on agriculture, cooperation and legislation, will be called upon to formulate policy from some 50 resolutions expressing a wide divergency of opinion, which have been presented.

Tests for Judges Urged by Senator

WASHINGTON. (AP) — Senator Logan (D., Ky.), a supporter of President Roosevelt's court reorganization bill, proposed today that congress set up a special council to determine whether judges were competent.

Logan, a member of the senate judiciary committee, suggested that congress appoint senior circuit court judges and the chief justice of the United States to consider charges of incompetency which the justice department could file against any federal judge, from the supreme court down.

"In history," Logan said, "cases have arisen in the supreme court where a justice was wholly incompetent.

"Under this plan, the justice department could file a complaint against any judge deemed incompetent to serve. He would be given a full opportunity to be heard."

Negro Assaults Stockton Woman

STOCKTON. (AP) — A Stockton woman was criminally assaulted in her home early today as an unidentified negro struck for the third time in four months.

The woman, whose name was withheld by authorities, was attacked after her husband had been bound hand and foot by the man, who removed a screen from their bedroom window.

Three of the couple's four children were in the same room, one of them awake, when the attack was perpetrated.

ITALY FIGHTS JAPAN ACTION

heard Norman H. Davis, head of the American delegation, declare there were "compelling reasons" why Japan should cooperate in the search for peace.

"The question which we are considering, in its final analysis, is whether international relations shall be determined by arbitrary force or by law and respect for international treaties," Davis declared.

"In fact, that seems to be the greatest issue that faces the world today and is one of the most momentous problems that mankind has been called upon to solve."

After reviewing the history of the Brussels conference and Japan's reply to its approaches for collaboration, Davis added:

"Had Japan accepted I am confident we would have been most helpful to her as well as to China which it was our most sincere desire to please.

"I am convinced the only just and durable solution would be a settlement by voluntary, peaceful agreement which would result in good will, confidence and mutually beneficial commercial relations."

SHANGHAI. (AP)—A Japanese gunboat successfully crossed the partly broken boom obstructing the upper Whangpoo river today after armed Japanese naval launches had swept the stream of mines, exploding several harmlessly.

The exploratory voyage up the Whangpoo and the trip to Tao of other armed launches up the Soochow creek indicated Japanese preparations to use both streams to transport military supplies to its armies advancing westward toward Nanking.

Japanese declared officially they intended using Soochow creek to transport supplies through the international settlement. Foreign defense officers avoided possible friction, recognizing the creek was an open waterway.

United States Consul General Clarence E. Gauss interceded with the Japanese today to create a safety zone for foreigners at Soochow, city west of Shanghai which the Japanese have threatened with bombardment.

Negotiations were begun with the Japanese embassy at the request of United States Ambassador Nelson Johnson to whom American missionaries in the Soochow vicinity had pleaded for help.

Soochow, once the capital of a Chinese dynasty and now one of China's cultural and literary centers, apparently was in danger of a heavy Japanese air attack.

CHIEF HOWARD 'ON LIMB'

REFERRED TO WEBB

District Attorney Menton has referred questioners to Webb's opinion. City Atty. Lew Blodget has held the agency "may" be legal.

Howard's position, should he decide to close the shop or make arrests, would be that of a legal pioneer. The "legal bookies" never have been tested in court on a similar situation. Only decisions on record are one from San Bernardino county where the "bookie" was found guilty of not placing bets at the track, and one from Orange county several years ago where the "bookie" was sending his bets out of the state—both illegal under state law.

AMES REFUSES TO RULE

Judge Ames held in his decision that he could not rule on legality of the business, that being a matter to be decided by a court of law rather than equity — in other words, to be decided by a judge or jury in a criminal case.

West's contention that his injunction was prayed for under an invalid section of a section of the penal code forbidding taking of race bets was overruled by Judge Ames, who held that the law was excepted rather than invalidated. Application for an injunction in that case was proper only under an invalid or unconstitutional law.

Although he has received "numerous informal complaints" against operation of the "bookie shop" Sheriff Logan Jackson today indicated he has not planned action to close the establishment.

"If it is operating illegally, it obviously should be closed," the sheriff declared, but he declined to say whether he would consider it his office's duty to close the bookmaking establishment.

He recalled that it was his office that closed a turf agency operating within the Santa Ana city limits early in 1936, but hinted he probably would defer action in this case—at least for a few days.

RILEY TO RUN

SACRAMENTO. (AP) — Ray L. Riley, a member of the state railroad commission and formerly the state controller, disclosed definitely here today he will be a candidate for the United States senate in 1938.

He will seek the post now held by Senator William Gibbs McAdoo.

CIVIL SERVICE EDITORIAL HIT

Striking at assertedly false reports circulated in Santa Ana regarding the civil service proposition to be voted on Tuesday, Mayor Gillette of Santa Monica, a city which has civil service, today issued this statement:

"The editorial which appeared in a Santa Ana paper last night against civil service is rather interesting, but only to people who like to be kidded.

"Santa Monica has had a very fine civil service operating for something over a year. During that time her tax rate has been decreased 32 cents; while we all know our current condition.

"The civil service board of representative citizens in Santa Monica is paid a small fee. The civil service board of Santa Ana, composed of prominent citizens, will donate their time.

"Our present city attorney has completely drafted a civil service ordinance at no cost to the city. He has patterned this ordinance after the finest and most modern in the state. Santa Ana is therefore being offered modern legislation and an opportunity for home rule.

"No power of firing is taken away from a department head under civil service. A much needed check, however, is put on every department head, so that no unwarranted discharges will be made.

"The finest fire and police departments in the state are at present operating under civil service legislation. We therefore earnestly recommend to the forward thinking citizens of Santa Ana and the taxpayers of Santa Ana their support in the civil service measure because it will decrease taxes for the following reasons:

"First, turn over, which is so costly in any organization, will be greatly reduced.

"Second, political padding of payrolls near election time, will be eliminated.

"Third, only efficient, wide-awake employes can maintain a job in city service, and all new employes will receive their appointments on their own merit and not costly political pull."

Dead Horses Now Safe on Streets Of New York City

NEW YORK. (AP)—After next Jan. 1 New Yorkers will be legally free to leave a dead horse in the street "without fitting illumination and a tag declaring who be the owner."

They also will have a legal right to fly a kite within the city limits, boil bones without a permit—or own a bean shooter.

This new freedom will result from the efforts of Reuben Lazarus, and a staff of 40 lawyer assistants who for two years have been weeding out ancient city statutes and codifying municipal laws.

Thanks to Lazarus, public buildings soon will need no longer have "at least one cuspidor for every two people."—and one will again have the privilege of driving pigs down "Broad Way," a pleasure that has been banned since the 17th century.

Columbia requires that all immigrants be able to speak Spanish.

Mt. Lowe Cable Car Earns Rest After 44 Years

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—The cable car ride up Mount Lowe apparently isn't the thrill it used to be. The mountain railway soon will be abandoned, after 44 sightseeing years.

H. O. Marler, Pacific Electric traffic manager, said today a petition has been filed asking the state railroad commission for permission to abandon the railway beyond Altadena.

A year ago fire destroyed the Alpine tavern and it has not been rebuilt. That fire was not the only catastrophe in Mt. Lowe's history.

Fire and wind helped to destroy the observatory and $200,000 resort on the summit fathered by the late Prof. Thaddeus S. C. Lowe, astronomer.

He and others stood in Rubio canyon July 4, 1893, and watched the first car ascend the incline, with a brass band playing "Nearer, My God, to Thee," and pass from sight through a cloud.

JURORS TO AID INDICTED MAN

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Members of the San Francisco grand jury that indicted a 26-year-old man on charges of murdering his father today offered their financial aid to defend him at his trial.

Jackson was arrested Sept. 7, several days after his father, Carl W. Jackson, sr., was found dead in Sutro forest.

District Attorney Matthew Brady quoted young Jackson as saying he had brought his mother, Mrs. Edith Jackson, from Kansas City to escape his father's drunk-inspired brutality. But the elder Jackson followed his wife to San Francisco. Both the son and Mrs. Jackson told officers he "made our lives hell." One night father and son drove to Sutro forest. There was a fight.

Brady said young Jackson reported he defended himself against a knife in his father's hands.

DR. BAKER LAUDS CIVIL SERVICE

The advantages of having police and fire departments free from political interference, and their members under the pressure of the merit system in holding their jobs, without any cost to the taxpayer for such a system, were given today by Dr. Margarete Baker, of the Santa Ana board of education, as her reasons for indorsing the civil service proposal for the two local departments.

She would like to see civil service in all departments of local governments, Dr. Baker said, in a talk at civil service headquarters.

"I favor the principle of civil service, and would prefer that it be extended to all departments of government here, but establishing it in the police and fire departments will be a good beginning.

"The security that civil service brings to the employe is not the type of security that we generally speak of as license. It is the security that develops initiative and men. Under the merit system they must "keep on their toes," as it involves both promotion and demotion, depending upon their efficiency or lack of it.

"I would prefer to see the proposed local ordinance more simple, because the very fact that it is so explicit and goes into such detail, will make it less flexible. However, that is nothing serious. It can be corrected by amendment at any time, should the need become apparent.

"While the civil servie system will bring a real benefit here, it will entail no extra expense to the taxpayer, as it does not include a pension or retirement plan. And its assurance that the two departments will be free from political interference is an advantage that should not be lost."

There are more than 175,000 separate federal, state and local governmental units functioning in the United States.

WATER PARLEY IN DEADLOCK

SAN BERNARDINO. (AP) — Attorneys representing water users of San Bernardino and Orange counties failed to reach an agreement today on the issue of spreading water in the upper Santa Ana river basin, at an all-day conference yesterday.

James Irvine, Orange county rancher, has a suit pending in United States court asking for an injunction to halt the spreading. He contends the spreading lowers the supply in Orange county.

Supervisors of the two counties recently signed a pact, abrogating the 1930 agreement which provided for spreading only when water in the river flowed to or beyond the Chapman avenue bridge in Santa Ana.

The new program provides three masters to be named by the court unless parties reach their own agreement, to direct operations of the two counties for a five year period.

Rights of Irvine and San Bernardino users will remain intact until a decision is returned. Experts expressed the opinion the dispute will automatically be settled with the building of a dam across the river to impound storm waters.

Heroic Mother Beats Out Flames

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Heroic efforts of a mother, Mrs. Juanita Bible, were credited by hospital authorities today with saving her 10-year-old son's life.

The lad, Derewood, was enveloped in flames following an explosion in the woodshed where he had struck a match igniting gasoline. He is recovering from third degree burns.

SANITARIUM HEADS MEET

More than 100 tuberculosis specialists from all parts of the state assembled at the conclave, which was highlighted by presentation of technical discussions by leading authorities on chest diseases.

Other officers elected were Dr. Harold G. Trimble, Oakland, vice president; Dr. William A. Wrinn, Porterville, secretary - treasurer, and Dr. Chesley Bush, Alameda county, executive committeeman.

Supervisor Harry Riley opened the meeting with an address of welcome. Nearly all county and private sanitoriums in the state were represented.

The association voted to support formation of a nationally-recognized group of tuberculosis physicians. Under this program, it was pointed out, the public could be informed of which men in a community are recognized as qualified tuberculosis specialists.

Speakers at the session included Dr. Paul O'Hara, San Diego, who discussed chest surgery; Dr. F. M. Pottenger, Monrovia, on the importance of a follow-up program for tuberculosis patients after they leave the hospital; Dr. Everett Morris, Fresno, and Dr. Bush, comparing the advantages of rural and urban sanitorium sites; Dr. Janne, on the social importance of tuberculosis, and Drs. W. A. Hodges, La Vina Sanitorium, and Dr. Trimble, on the value of preventoriums.

Mary Corey Wins Speech Competition

Mary Corey was elected the best speaker of last evening's Junior Toastmasters meeting with a talk explaining the cost of crime. The meeting was held at the Y. M. C. A.

Jocelyn Brando explained different methods of making private conversations more interesting. David Geddes spoke on "The Redwood Lumber Industry" and related the processes used to make finished redwood lumber. Jane Mathews displayed several old letters and portraits to illustrate her speech on "My Ancestor in the Gold Rush." Mary Corey next gave her speech on "A Few Things Every Citizen Should Know." Robert Nelson concluded the evening with a talk on "The Alphabetical Foods—Vitamins."

CRASH VICTIM SUES

Injured in an auto crash in Carbon canyon Oct. 24, Margaret A. Gilmartin today started suit in superior court for $3000 damages against the driver of the other car, Marvin Hopberg is named defendant in the action, filed by Frederick A. Dockweiler, Los Angeles attorney. The complaint charges Hopberg swerved to the wrong side of the road and collided with a car driven by William H. Troxel, in which the plaintiff was riding.

GRAIN THEFT CHARGED

Arrested while assertedly carrying two bales of barley along Ball road near Hanson station yesterday, A. H. Beneke, 43, Anaheim, confessed, according to officers, to stealing four bales of the grain from the Santa Monica Hog ranch on Cerritos road. He was booked in county jail on a petty theft charge.

'NO VACANCY' SIGN FACES RENTERS

City Has High Percentage of Owned Houses

"We want a house. Or an apartment. We want some place to live. And there doesn't seem to be a thing."

Realtors and builders admitted today that plaint is becoming more and more common, as the "big squeeze" definitely was on. Coupled with a steady rise in building costs, Santa Ana is faced with an unparalleled housing shortage.

Rentals are scarcer than at any time in the past five years—and rental prices have jumped on an average of from $10 to $20 with rising costs of living and corresponding, though slower, increases in salaries.

FEW VACANCIES

Prospective renters or purchasers of Santa Ana homes today can pick their houses from a vacancy list of only one per cent, Earl Hawks, president of the Realty Board, admitted. The normal vacancy runs from five to 10 per cent.

Rents have jumped 20 per cent in three years, while values have jumped five per cent.

The average rental today is something over $30, Hawks said, with very few going at the depression price of $20. Rentals in the north end of town average from $35 to $45. In other sections they are approximately $10 lower.

RENTALS LOW

However, Hawks pointed out, Santa Ana rentals are not high, compared with those in cities of a corresponding size. He also explained that during the depression years rentals often did not justify ownership, as they failed to defray interest costs on loans or tax costs.

Santa Ana has an unusually high percentage of owned homes, figures released by the realty board and the Federal Bureau of Home Economics showed. The average here is "somewhere over 65 per cent," compared with a national average of around 40 per cent.

"The present trend toward amortized home loans," Hawk explained, "is largely responsible for a considerable increase in home ownership during the past several years.

"Many homes were lost during the depression through the prevailing practise of financing on short-term loans, and the difficulty of refinancing contracts."

BUILDING DRIVE

From the Orange County Builders' Exchange came the announcement that a concerted drive to induce more building is being launched.

"We are making every effort to induce prospective home-owners to build now," G. W. Bassett, secretary, said. "The widespread feeling that building prices are too high is largely erroneous. They are going to be higher."

He described building costs as "about average," and blamed labor troubles for a large portion of the stalemate to building activities now being felt.

NEW APARTMENTS

Realtors said the most apparent result of the current shortage in Santa Ana is the "astounding" increase in erection of apartment houses. At least six new apartment dwellings have gone up within the past year, and several more are under construction. Apartment rentals, however, are increasing rather faster than home rentals, it was pointed out, due to increased tax loads, overhead and building costs.

Air Interview to Explain Census

Launching the federal government's unemployment census for Santa Ana, Mayor Fred Rowland and Postmaster Frank Harwood will be interviewed by Joel Ogle, Santa Ana attorney, during an informative broadcast from KVOE at 5:45 p. m. Monday, it was announced today.

The census will be handled by Santa Ana postal officials from Tuesday to Saturday, and the radio program has been arranged to explain details of filling out the census card.

HOSPITAL TO JAIL

The shadow of the law hovered over St. Joseph's hospital's front door yesterday when O. F. Blankenship, Huntington Beach, hobbled out after being confined to bed for several months with a broken leg. Blankenship figuratively walked into the arms of a Long Beach municipal court marshal and Orange county deputy sheriff who have been waiting for the man to recover sufficiently to face petty theft charges ever since he was rushed to the hospital early this summer.

DRIVER EXONERATED

A coroner's jury yesterday exonerated Donald Orvil Norland, 25, Cypress, of any criminal responsibility for the death last Saturday of Bing Quong Woo, elderly Chinese pedestrian who was killed as he ran in front of Norland's car near Cypress.

The inquest, which was postponed for several days pending positive identification of the body, was conducted at the Backs, Terry & Campbell Funeral home in Anaheim.

I JUST FOUND OUT— About Printing Signs With Silk

By MILLARD BROWNE

By using a piece of silk instead of deft fingers, and a rubber squeegee instead of a bristly brush, "hand-painted" signs are produced in Santa Ana in quantity lots big enough to compete with commercial printers and lithographers.

* * *

It's called silk screen process painting, and it involves more principles used in mimeographing, printing, lithographing, photo-engraving and etching that those used in sign painting.

* * *

Principal Santa Ana exponent is Clyde W. Rowland, whose sign shop specializes in silk screen work. Rowland's been using the process for more than 15 years, has developed several original quirks that put him in direct competition with big-time San Francisco and Los Angeles lithographers.

* * *

In its most elementary form, painting with silk is like using a stencil. The silk is stretched drum-tight over a frame, everything coated except the places where the squeegee is supposed to force paint through the mesh to make a letter or figure.

* * *

That's only the beginning, though. From there, the process has been developed so it will blend practically every color in the rainbow, all in one impression, so it will print several different screen effects, shadows and highlights at the same time.

* * *

The last improvement is one Rowland himself has made. He's fixed up what corresponds to a "Ben Day" process in photo-engraving. By different means, varying from simply washing the screen with water to etching a sensitized covering on the same screen with acid, the Santa Ana sign man now can put shadows with several different shades of blackness on one of his signs.

* * *

Process painters use a special kind of silk. Called bolting cloth, it's made in France and Switzerland, costs as high as $24 a yard. "The Swiss seem to have some secret formula for weaving silk that makes it better for painting than any yet produced in this country," Rowland claims. The kind he uses has 163 meshes to the inch, and the threads are interlocked. This prevents it from spreading, he explained, and it gives the finished job a smooth effect.

* * *

Silk screen painting works best with fairly small quantity-lots. If the job runs much less than 25 signs, it's simpler to paint them all by hand, because making the screen is a long, laborious process. And if it runs over a thousand, lithographing is enough faster to make process painting more expensive.

* * *

Painting with silk is practical in certain jobs that can't be lithographed, though. The process will "take" on any kind of paper, metal, wood, glass, cardboard or practically any other base. Rowland's even put it on curved surfaces.

* * *

For most jobs, he uses an inexpensive "press" he's rigged up. The screen, mounted on a frame suspended above a table in the shop, is swung into position on top the article to be painted, and a squeegee (which looks something like the scrapers window-washers use) is rubbed over the screen, forcing paint through where pores in the silk haven't been filled.

* * *

Biggest quantity job Rowland has heard of has come from a screen he made for the Pure Food Products company in Orange. The company rigged up its own frame, used the screen to label boxes for distributors of its product.

* * *

And miraculous as it sounds, the screen has stood up through more than 300,000 impressions—150,000 boxes on both ends. The screen was beginning to wear the other day, was brought in to Rowland who patched it and put it back in use.

* * *

Several other packing houses use the silk process for labels, and many big stores or other business houses have built their own printing frames to handle showcards, price tags and sundry posters.

* * *

Two novelties screen process experimenters have developed: Imitation Neon signs and decalcimania (signs printed backwards that transfer paint itself to windows.)

* * *

The imitation Neon is done by processing both sides of a glass pane, letting streaks of light shine through a light coat of orange paint on the back of the glass. They'd fool anyone at a distance. A former employe at Rowland's has a patent on the Neon substitute.

* * *

The "decalcs" are made by process-printing the desired designs and colors on a glossy paper with laquer. Water sticks a glue-like substance on the back of the sign to glass, washes the paper off the front, and just the laquer is left on the window.

* * *

Biggest surface Rowland has tried to print with silk screen is that on the school girl safety zone signs adopted more than a year ago for Santa Ana.

The signs were a local invention, by the way—promoted by Patrolman J. W. Foster of the police department. He conceived the idea, had Rowland draw some rough sketches, finally put it over with the city council. The idea "caught" and now Rowland processes them on steel plates cut at the Moritz foundry.

* * *

He's sold the signs, which were printed on wood until breakage prompted him to switch over to steel, to a dozen California cities, and has had inquiries from as far away as Kansas City.

* * *

Rowland has reproduced some photographs by the silk screen method. They lose too much detail to be very valuable commercially, but it gives an idea what the screen process will do.

* * *

* * *

Rowland is currently occupied with the third reprinting of some novelty cork table coasters with Mexican design. They were first marketed last spring by a Laguna Beach concern which ordered 4000 as an experiment. "Hand painted" by the screen process, they became popular, mostly on the Atlantic coast, and Rowland now is finishing his third order of 4000 sets.

30 TO GO TO FARM MEET

Orange county will be represented by more than 30 members of its Farm Bureau this week at Modesto, when the California Farm Bureau Federation opens its 19th annual convention, Secretary R. D. Flaherty announced today.

Opening general sessions are slated for Monday, with special meetings of farm center presidents and the annual meeting of the vegetable department following through the four-day parley.

Orange county will be included in virtually every group at the conclave, Flaherty said. Special meetings of commodity departments will be held Monday.

Included in the local group will be:

Pension Clubs Plan Mass Meet Tuesday

Orange county Townsend clubs will hold a special mass meeting at the Anaheim Townsend hall Tuesday. Opening with a dinner at 6 p. m., the meeting will feature a talk by Capt. Russell R. Hand, Los Angeles radio speaker.

Mamie Stark will sing several solos, and Mrs. Enid Wilson will direct community singing.

UPPER CRUST

SALT LAKE CITY.—Socialites puzzled over a name in Salt Lake City's new social register.

Listed among the 400 were:

"Nibley, Mr. and Mrs. Park—Hyland 3872."

Nibley Park is a municipal golf course.

APT PUPIL

LOS ANGELES.—Buffalo Bill's tactics routed a would-be assailant. When Mrs. Albert McCreary, 70, saw a man hovering over her bed, brickbat in hand, she drew a pistol from under her pillow and fired. The intruder fled. Mrs. McCreary said William F. (Buffalo Bill) Cody taught her to shoot.

STEALTHY CUSTOMERS

CHICAGO. — Lillian and Rose Scardina were forced to postpone indefinitely the grand opening of their new lingerie shop.

When they went to the store to open for business, they found burglars had been there first. Shelves, closets and drawers had been cleaned of the entire stock.

BANKERS MEET AT LAGUNA

Headed by Jack Bascom, assistant cashier, First National bank, a group of representative Santa Ana bankers were to leave at noon for Laguna Beach, where a semi-annual regional meeting of the California Bankers' association will be held today and tomorrow.

Bascom, as chairman of the fourth district of the association, today released plans for the two-day conclave and announced speakers.

Mrs. Jack Vallely, Santa Ana clubwoman and civic worker, will be the featured speaker at tonight's banquet meeting in the Laguna Beach hotel. Bascom will preside over all sessions of the group.

Speakers on the afternoon program include D. C. Albright, assistant vice president of the Security First National Bank, Los Angeles; R. F. Lamm, vice president of the Citizen's National Trust and Savings Bank, Los Angeles, and R. H. Revele, assistant cashier of the Wells Fargo Bank and Union Trust company of San Francisco.

Representative bankers from Los Angeles, Orange, Riverside, San Bernardino, Imperial and San Diego counties will attend the conclave. A Sunday morning golf match and afternoon bridge session for women attending are listed among the features of the parley.

Expected to attend from Santa Ana are Mr. and Mrs. Bascom, W. B. Williams, E. B. Sprague, C. M. Rowland, A. P. Trawig, L. S. Mortenson and Chester Warren.

COUNTY TO CUT U. S. MELON

Orange county will receive 13 per cent of the federal government's expenditures for flood control, water storage and erosion work during the next six years, L. Deming Tilton, chairman of the national resources committee, announced today.

Tilton, who also acts as consultant planning engineer for Orange county, listed this county's $13,000,000 flood control project as one of the four "most urgent" in California. The coming year will see $3,700,000 of the $13,000,000 spent here.

Other "most urgent" jobs included a $15,000,000 Los Angeles county flood control project, a $4,435,000 irrigation and water storage project in Ventura county, and a $180,000 beach erosion control program in Santa Barbara county.

CHECK FORGER GOES TO PEN

Admitting he passed a $55 fictitious check last Jan. 11, Sumyoshi Imamura was under sentence today to a term in San Quentin which will last from one to 14 years.

Imamura was sentenced yesterday afternoon by Superior Judge James L. Allen after pleading guilty to the offense. The check was made out to Hiram D. McDonald.

Sister of S. A. Woman Is Called

Death of Martha Oleata Boling, 48, sister of Mrs. Charles E. Dressler, 703 West Washington street, Santa Ana, was reported today from a Pasadena sanitarium where she had been a patient for the past three years.

Miss Boling had been a resident of Fullerton since 1921, and was employed as a teacher in the Fullerton schools. Besides Mrs. Dressler, she is survived by her father, Frank Boling; another sister, Ethel B. Watson, and a nephew, Jack Watson, all of 404 Jacaranda street, Fullerton, and a brother, Fred Boling, of Brea.

Funeral services will be held Monday at 2 p. m. from McAuley and Suters Funeral parlor, Fullerton, with interment to follow in Loma Vista cemetery.

DECORATOR OPENS OFFICE

Having recently established offices in the Otis building on which he did extensive decorating, both interior and exterior, P. A. Speicher, head of the Pacific Art Decorative Institute, has just completed refinishing the interior of Dr. Dale E. Brockett's dental offices and furnishings.

MISSIONARY TO SPEAK

Niel B. Weir, who has recently returned from Peru where he was a missionary for six years, will speak at the Silver Acres community church, on West Fifth street, at 7 p. m. tomorrow. Mrs. Weir, who accompanied him, will address the Christian Endeavor at 6 p. m.

$10,000 ESTATE

Tobe Picklesimer, who died last March 17, left an estate worth $10,442.94, according to a report to superior court today by Howard Irwin, state inheritance tax appraiser. The property consists of real estate, stock and two automobiles.

NEW TRADE TREATY

BANGKOK, Siam. (AP)—A new trade treaty between the United States and Siam was signed today by Edwin L. Neville, American minister, and Foreign Minister Luang Pradit.

EIGHTEEN IN TRAFFIC NET

Charged with traffic offenses ranging from speeding to drunk driving, 18 motorists paraded before Judge J. G. Mitchell in a busy Friday session at Santa Ana police court.

Ace Ford, Los Angeles, arranged to pay a $150 drunk driving fine on installments, while B. J. Heinz, route 1, box 121, Fullerton, pleaded not guilty to a reckless driving count. The case was set for 10 a. m. Dec. 7.

Speeding fines levied:

Christian Bjerre, Los Angeles, $15; Jack S. Freborg, Los Angeles, $10; Gladys B. Groesback, Balboa Beach, $10; Donald H. Nelson, Santa Ana, $8; O. J. Madison, San Clemente, $8; John Blackenhorn, Los Angeles, $8; Bill Capps, Santa Ana, $8; Donald F. Beardsley, Garden Grove, $8; Gordon F. Byars, Norwalk, $8; Jesus L. Castro, Santa Ana, $8.

Joe Reya, Stanton, $7; Walter C. Roy, Anaheim, $7; Melvin H. Patterson, Santa Ana, $6; James Pias, San Clemente, $6; William Sultzer, Fullerton, $5, and Ernest A. Dargatz, Anaheim, $5.

Theft of a tire and rim from the car he had parked at Fourth and Garfield streets was reported last night by Martin Kothe, route 1, box 192.

WON'T DELAY GIETZ TRIAL

Rudolph Goetz, Santa Anan, whose record is checkered with arrests, wanted the district attorney's office to investigate the case further.

But the district attorney's office was satisfied with its evidence, and Goetz will go to trial before a superior court jury Dec. 1 on charges of a sex crime against a 13-year-old Santa Ana girl. He faces two felony counts.

"My client is not ready to enter a plea at this time," said S. F. Gallagher, court-appointed to defend Goetz.

"I'd like to have the case investigated more thoroughly by the district attorney's office," explained Goetz to Superior Judge James L. Allen.

"Is the district attorney's office ready for an answer to arraignment?" asked the judge.

"We do not care to investigate any further," said Deputy Dist. Atty. Harold McCabe.

So Goetz pleaded not guilty and demanded a jury trial. McCabe estimated the trial would take two days in court. Dr. John Ball was appointed to make a medical examination of the defendant and to testify at the trial.

Last Rites Held For Orange Pioneer

Funeral services for W. D. Granger, pioneer Orange business man, were held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Gillogly Funeral chapel, Orange, with the Rev. J. S. Sorenson officiating. Members of the Masonic lodge were in charge of graveside services.

Mr. Granger died at the age of 83, following an emergency operation performed several days ago at St. Joseph's hospital. He had organized and headed the First National Bank of Orange for more than 20 years, retiring 11 years ago. He had lived in Orange for 32 years.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Ella Granger; a son, Earl, of San Francisco; a daughter, Mrs. Henry Campbell, of Orange, and one sister, Mrs. Stella J. Umroy. He was a member of the Orange Grove Masonic lodge and Eastern Star.

MATRONS MEET

Hermosa Past Matrons' association of the Order of Eastern Star will have a luncheon meeting Thursday at 12 noon at the Masonic temple. Hostesses will be Mrs. Vera Jacoby, Mrs. Neile Neighbor, Mrs. Kate Barker, and Mrs. Martha Reinhaus. Those unable to attend are to call Mrs. Barker.

SCHOOL COST INCREASES

It costs 29 per cent more money to operate the Santa Ana schools this year than it did last.

This means that its costs you, as a taxpayer, just over 12 cents more on each 100 of assessed valuation this year to pay teacher's salaries and general maintenance costs.

Ten cents of this increase is directly due to teacher's salary increases voted this year, Chairman George Wells of the board of education announced today.

Other costs, however, combined to raise the elementary, $100 assessed valuation to $2.17.

CAPITAL OUTLAY HEAVY

Close behind operational costs in accounting for the jump was a 27.90 per cent increase in capital outlay for new buildings and equipment, amounting to 16 cents of the 43-cent rise in taxes.

Interest and principal payments on bonded indebtedness accounted for another 10 cents, of 22.90 per cent of the increase. Only .04 of a cent will go toward building up a reserve fund.

The 43-cent increase in the tax rate, figuring in an anticipated 10 per cent delinquency, will raise $104,638.82.

$35,000 FOR NEW BUILDING

Wells' figures showed that $35,400 will be expended on new buildings this year, and $14,443.18 for new equipment. Both figures are considerably below the five-year average set since 1933. In that time $1,102,207.19 has been expended in capital outlay, of which $1,031,930.16 was for new buildings.

Only $116,607.19 of this was raised by direct taxation, however, the bulk of it coming in the form of a Greene Bill loan from the state for $615,000. Sale of bonds accounted for $223,000, and a federal grant accounted for another $147,600.

Wells pointed out that recent refinancing of the Greene Bill loan, reducing the interest from 4.4 per cent to 2.2 per cent, is saving the taxpayer $138,134.50 in interest charges during the life of the loan.

NEWS OF ORANGE COUNTY COMMUNITIES

FESTIVAL OF NATIONS AT VALENCIA

PLACENTIA. — Sponsoring its first "Festival of Nations," Valencia High school Girl Reserves were hostesses to nearly 150 guests on the high school campus Wednesday evening.

Rice soup was served in one of the English classrooms, which had been transformed into a typically Oriental house. Hostesses who served the soup were dressed in Japanese costumes. The salad course was served in a typing room of the commercial building.

In the Spanish restaurant, held in the high school assembly room, traditional Spanish dances were given by Esther Lemus and Ray Reyes. In the American booth, the farm motif was carried out. The meal was served in the agriculture shop.

Members of committes planning the affair were Hawaii; Bonnie Jean Carlson, Cecil Pyatt, Claudina Montana, Bobbie Jerome, and Carmen Vargas; Orient; Jacqueline Peralta, Helen Hodges, Agnes Day, Adelma Jones, Naomi Hall, Margaret Wilsey, Avis Tuffree, Patricia Elvey, Betty Sweet, and Dorothy Thurman; Spanish, Shirley Schenck, Vivian Smith, Marjorie Solesbee, Esther Lemus, Bandelia Montana, Helen Hill, Cyrilla Hannah, and Winona Hood; Scandinavian; Lila Christiansen, Betty Ann Hasson, Ruth Edwardson, and Lorraine Anderson; France; Loys Robbins, Alma Ruth Dennis, Marie Cassella, Dorothy Boisserance, Ava Nel Hartley, Winifred Robins, Marjorie Steen, and Betty White; America; Margaret Gillilan, Thelma Hargrove, June Nittel, Alice Young, Jean Charlton, Betty Jo Baucum, Mary Orosco, Eva Urikrte, and Mary Louise Dunning.

General chairman for the festival was Allie Lou Mosier. Advisors for the affair were the regular Girl Reserve advisers, Rosalie Erdos and Margaret Varnum.

Flour Battle Is Just in Fun

Casting their bread upon the waters of Long Island sound, 25 privately owned airplanes bombarded 15 cabin cruisers with sacks of flour in a sham battle. Beleaguered boatsmen retaliated by shooting at the fliers with anti-aircraft cameras. Only toll of the bloodless battle was a lot of lost dough (not the kind recently dropped in the stock market). Only winners, if any, were the fishes who might have tried unbaked dropcrakes.

Fullerton Kiwanis Club To Sponsor Benefit Comedy

FULLERTON. — The Fullerton Kiwanis club for 11 years has given an annual show for the benefit of junior college students who wish to complete their education, but cannot do so for financial reasons. These scholars are given loans with extremely lenient features.

The club's offering this year is "Adam and Eve," a comedy of America family life in three acts, and will be presented at the Fullerton High school auditorium next Thursday evening, with curtain promptly at 8 o'clock. Half the net proceeds go to the loan fund and the other half to the fund for under-privileged children and for boys' and girls' work.

Thirty-six students have been or are now being helped by this fund. A total of $7500 has been loaned and about $5000 is now outstanding.

FATHER-SON BANQUET SET

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO. — A large attendance is anticipated at the annual Father and Son banquet of the students of San Juan Capistrano Union High school next Tuesday evening in the school auditorium. Entertainment will be provided by Spanish musicians and dancers. Members of the school board and the honorary members of the organization are to be special guests.

The committee in charge of the entertainment is composed of Bill Callis and Elisio Morales, Callis also acting as toastmaster for the occasion. Ernest Deer and Leroy Cady will head the dinner committee and Peter Yamauchi is in charge of decorations. Dinner will be prepared by members of the home economics department, with boys doing the cooking and girls serving.

Finley Backs Volleyball Team

COSTA MESA. — A newly organized volleyball team, under the captaincy of Gordon B. Findlay, Newport Beach contractor, made its appearance at the opening of the second series this week. Players in the team are Bill Crow, Heinz Kaiser, Clyde Otto, A. M. Nelson, Douglas Ward, Don Douglas and Jim Conrad.

Buck Long's team was judged the winner of the first series. Four teams are now in active combat, games being played each Thursday in the high school gym.

Florida was discovered by Ponce de Leon on Easter Sunday, 1513.

FORM CIRCLE OF MESA CLUB

COSTA MESA. — Mrs. Walter Mellott's circle of the Friday afternoon club met Wednesday in an organization meeting at the home of Mrs Merwin J. Fickas. At this time the circle was christened "Bernie's Belles," and a decision made to meet the third Wednesday in each month. Mrs. O. R. Umbenhower was elected vice-chairman and Mrs. W. I. Covault secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Sam Crawford and Mrs. Morris Crawley will be hostesses at a desert bridge to be given in December, it was announced.

Coffee and cake were served at the close of the meeting by Mrs. Fickas and Mrs. Mellot, co-hostesses.

Clemente Club Section Meets

SAN CLEMENTE. — The arts and crafts section of the Woman's club met at the home of Mrs. John Roberts on East Avendia Portal Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Emil Ferir as assisting hostess.

The afternoon was spent with routine matters and with individual work brought by each member. Present were Mesdames Ruhl Sites, A. T. Smith, Floyd H. Ray, Catherine Lewis, A. G. Gajeski, Fred Abel, Ed Bartlett, Guy Bartlett, J. T. Klayer, Donald Todd, Herbert Boudey, Louis Brown, Emil Ferir, A. Meurer, H. McMahon and Misses Jennie Lane and Eunice Templin.

G. G. MISSION WORKERS MEET

GARDEN GROVE.—Home and Foreign Missionary society members met at the First Methodist church for their monthly all-day meeting Thursday. Mrs. A. A. Schnitger and Miss Mettie Chaffee, presidents of the societies, conducted their respective business meetings during the morning. Meanwhile the members completed a quilt for the Mexican mission at Westminster.

A trip was planned for the near future for the home society to visit and take canned fruit to the David and Margaret children's home at Laverne. Mrs. J. O. Arkley, Christian citizenship chairman, contributed an article "Vital Peace."

Mrs. A. F. Mills, Mrs. Arkley and Mrs. Flora Green served luncheon at noon following which the foreign society presented the program with Mrs. Fred Andres in charge and reviewing the first chapter of the new study book, "Mecca and Beyond," Mrs. G. R. Reyburn conducted the devotions and the Mesdames Will Schnitger, Reyburn, Edward Chaffee and A. A. Schnitger presented a skit entitled "The Seven Point Star."

Home-Making Meeting Slated

COSTA MESA. — Costa Mesa Homemakers will meet Wednesday at 10 a. m. in the Women's clubhouse, at which time Miss Frances Liles, home demonstration agent of the department of agriculture, will discuss meat selection and preparation.

A covered-dish luncheon will be served at noon. Members are requested to bring vegetable, salad or dessert. The meat course and coffee, will be furnished by the organization.

Zabel Talks To San Juan Rotary

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO.—At the weekly meeting of the Rotary club Wednesday evening, Herman Zabel of the bureau of investigation in the Sheriff's office in Santa Ana, was guest speaker. His topic was "The Growth of Law Enforcement and Means of Criminal Identification."

The meeting was under the direction of Bob Grover. Next week's meeting will be directed by Melvin Rosenbaum.

Welfare Legion Dinner Slated

COSTA MESA. — At a recent meeting of the General Welfare Legion it was voted to hold a pot-luck dinner next Wednesday night in Greener's hall. Mrs. Barbara Wirtz was appointed hostess and Roy Hicks named chairman of the committee on table arrangements.

The speaker of the evening will be Rex Barr.

CHURCH DINNER

WESTMINSTER. — Members of the Happy Workers society will serve their November dinner next Wednesday, in the social hall of the Presbyterian church.

100 AT GROVE CENTER MEET

GARDEN GROVE. — Approximately 100 members were present for the home talent program of the Garden Grove Farm center, Thursday evening. J. W. Crill, a past president of the center as principal speaker, discussed "The Problems Ahead," enumerating difficulties ranchers may expect during the coming year.

W. C. Armstrong, county membership chairman, discussing membership placed the coming year's quota for the center at 255 members, a slight increase over the present membership of 237. Anticipating some loss, he said approximately 40 new members should be secured.

Plans for a representation at the state convention at Modesto during the coming week were made, several members planning to attend among whom will be A. D. Smiley, the director who has already gone north, Crill C. W. Musser and probably President Walter Schmid and H. Clay Kellogg.

Rev. Albert Stuart, pastor of the Alamitos Friends church, gave an Armistice day invocation, Howard H. Gardner of the Foothill center, the director's report and H. Clay Kellogg showed motion pictures of local scenes and people. Mrs. Edward Chaffee, new president of the home department and Mrs. A. D. Smiley served refreshments at the close of the session. Other guests present included Tom Hight, president of the Foothill center.

News About El Toro Folks

By MRS. CARRIE G. DREWS

Guillermo Grijalva died Thursday, Nov. 4 and was buried in the El Toro cemetery Saturday by the side of his wife, who died last Sept. 16. Both had been in the hospital for several months. He leaves a son, Louie Grijalva and four grandchildren. Also a son-in-law, Cleofas Ramero and two granddaughters, Vivian and Eleanor Ramero.

D. Seguara had a very hot fire this week, which threatened all of his ranch buildings for a spell. But all were saved by the timely help of some neighbors.

A delivery truck was unloading butane gas when it exploded, Seguara said, burning a wagon and damaging the oil truck and T. Echegary's tractor very badly. The cause of the explosion is unknown. No one was hurt.

A delightful party was given little Wilella May Stevens in her home last Wednesday on her third birthday by her two aunts, Misses Ida and Grace-Ellen Swartz. Children present were Harry and Virginia Bowe of Long Beach, Virginia Cook of Laguna Beach, Margaret Graham of Santa Ana, Sally Ann Tate of Wintersburg, two little Bacon girls of Tustin and Patricia Prather of El Toro.

About 150 attended the El Toro Homecoming Saturday evening in the El Toro hall, where a happy time was had by all. Old timers honored this year were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Salter of Placentia; Mr. and Mrs. Rube Waterman of El Toro; W. W. McCarrell of Redondo Beach; A. W. Clapp of South Harbor City and Aaron Buchheim of Doheny Park.

Honored guests at last year's affair present Saturday were Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Salter of San Pedro and El Toro and Lewis F. Moulton of El Toro. Mrs. Nellie Munger of Santa Ana was not able to attend.

Aaron Bucheim, Charlie Salter and R. F. Watt related much of the early history of El Toro, including when a whistling post on the Santa Fe railroad was changed from Aliso to El Toro in 1888. This name was chosen because the district was a cow pasture. The railroad has been the major factor in developing this district, shipping from El Toro more than 100,000 sacks of grain in addition to many carloads of hay, wool, sheep and cattle.

Oscar Rosenbaum, born here 69 years ago, and Lewis F. Moulton, who came here 63 years ago, are the oldest old-timers living in this vicinity today

TOWNSEND NEWS, VIEWS

By WALTER R. KOBB

Remember the mass meeting in Santa Ana Townsend hall at 7:30 tonight with the Hurd-Lentz orchestra furnishing music. District Manager J. H. Walsh will preside and John Weir, Los Angeles, will speak. T. Dunstan Collins with his National Youth administration band will lead a Townsend parade which will start from the P. E. depot on East Fourth street at 6:30 p. m. In the hall an oyster supper will be served from 6 to 7:30 o'clock at a nominal charge.

• • •

Armistice day evening Santa Ana Townsend club No. 3 held a well attended meeting with Col. Ralph D. Horton, Los Angeles, as speaker. Col. Horton was accompanied to Santa Ana by Mrs. Horton and Mr. and Mrs. U. O. Rible. Mrs. Rible is also a Los Angeles Townsend speaker, having given several talks here recently. President Phillip S. Doolittle presided. Dr. U. G. Littell introduced the speaker. W. A. Moomaw made a plea for help in putting over the petition drive.

Col. Horton told the Townsendites that "they have a mandate from high heaven to redeem America."

He reminded his hearers that every good man is sure to have enemies and indicated that he considered the recent disturbance in the Townsend movement was due to selfishness and desire for self-aggrandizement on the part of the disturbers. He voiced a warning against the report accredited to Arthur L. Johnson that he had never drafted the General Welfare act, H. R. 4199, for Dr. Townsend. The speaker said Mr. Johnson was in error, reading a statement which he had made acknowelging that he had drafted the General Welfare act under Dr. Townsend's direction. Col. Horton voiced the opinion that dissenters within Townsend ranks should be evicted.

The speaker defended Dr. Townsend in having presented the seven-point program by saying he had not deviated from the Townsend plan, but was only embellishing it by placing it in its proper setting.

The Townsend plan, the speaker said, would benefit all, but would contribute most generously of its benefits to the young. Townsendites he said were laboring with the unselfish purpose of making of earth a place of brotherhood.

He closed by saying: "Dr. Townsend has touched the keys of high heaven and all its enemies will not be able to stop the onward progress of the Townsend plan."

WESTMINSTER SCOUTS FETED

WESTMINSTER.—Members of the local Girl Scout organization entertained the Boy Scout troop, Scout leaders and several special guests at a supper party Wednesday night.

Bad Table Etiquette Cuts Off Friendships

They Won't Dine Out Again

Firmly she places a large piece of bread on the table cloth, plasters it thick with buter. Then she lifts the whole piece to her mouth, leaves teeth marks in its buttery surface whenever she takes a bite.

Surely Nancy knows that the only correct way to eat bread is to break off and butter a small piece at a time, just enough for a mouthful.

Careless table manners—so easy to avoid—offend others most. Are YOU ever guilty of pouring salt for celery or radishes on table cloth instead of plate?

Dropping olive pits into ash trays? Hanging knife and fork off edge of dinner plate so they tumble onto table when plate is removed?

Don't let bad table manners sneak up on you. Our 32-page booklet gives correct table etiquette for all occasions. Formal and informal meals, teas, restaurants, travel.

Send 10c for your copy of Good Table Manners to The Journal, Home Service, 117 East Fifth street. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

GROVE O.E.S. NAMES NEW OFFICERS

GARDEN GROVE.—New officers for the Garden Grove chapter, Order of Eastern Star, were elected at a meeting Thursday evening with Mrs. Clara Bryan and Norman Bryan being chosen as worthy matron and patron.

Other officers elected were Mrs. Emma Henry, associate matron; J. A. Knapp, associate patron; Mrs. Lucille Walker, secretary; Mrs. Anabel Bryan, treasurer; Mrs. Pauline Merchant, conductress and Mrs. Glee Newsom, associate conductress.

These, with the officers to be appointed by the matron-elect, will be installed at a public ceremony Nov. 26 with the retiring matron and patron, Mrs. Alice Keele and Dr. Donald Waters, as installing matron and patron. The installation will be at the regular meeting place of the chapter in the new I.O.O.F hall in Anaheim.

Reports of the recent annual grand chapter sessions in Los Angeles were given by Mesdames Keele and Bryan. During the social hour at which Mrs. Luella Franks and Mrs. Mae Henry served refreshments, Mrs. Keele presented gifts to the committee members, substitute officers and new members of the past year.

DAUGHTER BORN

WESTMINSTER.—Mr. and Mrs Sam Micelli have announced the birth of a daughter, Ruth Pearl, Monday morning at the Community hospital in Long Beach. Micelli is principal of the Hoover school and Mrs. Micelli was formerly a teacher in the same school.

TOO MANY FIANCEES

— By — KATHRYN CULVER

Copyright, 1937, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.

Guy Garrison's millionaire Uncle Sherman, irascible invalid, is so insistent upon his getting married, that Guy, while wintering in Miami, sends the old man a photo of Joan Wilson, night-club singer, saying he is engaged to her. Then, he actually becomes engaged to Mabel Lane but, when Uncle Sherman comes to Miami to take him and Joan on a yacht cruise, Guy is afraid to spring a new fiancee on him. He pays Joan to go on the cruise as his "fiancee." Ned Acton, who loves Joan and is opposed to the scheme, gets aboard the yacht as a member of the crew. Also aboard are Dick Young, private detective, and Laura Miller, pretty trained nurse. At Havana, Ned mysteriously skips. That evening, while the yacht party is at the gambling Casino, Laura is decoyed away from the others by an anonymous note. A strange Cuban kidnaps her and takes her to a deserted house, where he locks her in an upstairs room.

CHAPTER XXIV

LAURA'S first impule on being left a prisoner in the huge, high-ceilinged room, was to scream hysterically, but she gritted her teeth to repress the impulse. Instinctively, she knew that screams would do her no good. Her captor would not have left her ungagged if there was any chance that anyone would pay any attention to cries for help.

She sank into a deep armchair trying to fight off the hideous fear that threatens to engulf her. Someone would come soon. The Cuban had indicated as much. She must steel herself for the meeting.

Who would come? And what did they intend to do with her?

She rose nervously and went to a front window. It was old-fashioned, with a heavy wooden frame and small, leaded panes of glass. Outside, were horizontal iron bars imbedded in the solid masonry.

The window came open as she struggled with it. A blast of cool air whipped into the room, refreshing her fevered brow.

She grasped one of the iron bars and shook it tentatively. It was as solid as the house itself. Pressing her forehead against the cold metal, she could look down into the street, and could see the houses on either side of her prison.

The street was dark and deserted. The houses on each side were a good hundred feet away, and not a glimmer of light showed in either of them.

SHE turned away from the window. A careful tour of the room convinced her that there was no possible escape except by the door—and it was solid oak, without even a transom above. The walls were solid, and there was not even a closet to give hope of another exit. No skylight in the ceiling, and no rugs on the floor to conceal a possible trapdoor.

The room's furnishings were a queer mingling of the ancient and the modern. The house must be very old. Laura thought, with its high ceilings and the bastion-like alcove between the front windows. There was a beautiful cut-glass chandelier suspended from the ceiling, with holders for two dozen candles, but an ugly, bare electric bulb had superseded candles for illumination.

A silk-covered divan was placed invitingly in the alcove, an intruding note of modernity among the high-backed, carved chairs and the antique chest of drawers with the patina of age upon its rubbed surface.

Laura went to the divan and sat down stiffly, staring at the locked door with brooding eyes. Soon, the knob would turn, and the door would open inward.

Hysteria threatened to come upon her again. She resolutely averted her eyes from the door, forced herself to think about the gay party she had left at the Casino.

WHAT had they thought of her disappearance? How long would they wait before instituting a search for her? She little knew of the spurious message that had been delivered to them. She felt serenely confident that Dick would not return to the yacht without her.

She realized that most of her thoughts were of Dick. A warm glow replaced the chill of hysteria as she said his name softly aloud.

They had all been playing a game aboard the Nirvana. She had played her role by pretending to ignore Dick's advances. But it had been difficult. From the moment of meeting him, she had been acutely aware of his interest in her—and of her awakening interest in him.

She hadn't allowed herself to do much thinking about it while aboard the yacht. There, she had had her work to do. Mr. Garrison had been a trying patient, and his care had left her little time for personal affairs.

She sighed forlornly, and suddenly realized that she was thinking about it all as though it were of the past. For the first time, she faced the realization that she might never seen any of the yacht party again!

The others didn't matter, but not seeing Dick again mattered terribly. Mr. Garrison would get along without her—much better without her, she told herself wryly. She envisioned him defiantly smoking a cigar, taking a cocktail. She knew any such excess might snap the slender thread that held him to life, but, in her heart, she felt he might be happier to go that way.

She felt so removed from it all, as though it were a part of her life that was dead. She tried to put the morbid fancy away from her.

SHE jumped up and began to pace the floor, wondering how much longer she could endure the torture of waiting — how much longer she would have to endure it.

At the sound of an approaching car in the street, she ran to the window, hoping frantically that she might make herself heard—then clung to the bars with all hope gone as the automobile drew up in front of the house and stopped.

One man got out, walked briskly up the walk. Laura heard the front door open and close. There was a brief interlude of silence—then the tread of heavy feet on the stairs.

She drew back fearfully, crouched in a corner, her lips dry, her heart pounding furiously. The key grated in the lock, the knob turned, and the door swung inward.

For a moment, she didn't recognize the man who stood in the doorway, his eyes searching the room. She didn't recognize him until a bellow of astonished rage burst from his lips:

"What the devil are you doing here!"

Merry-Go-Round

PATTERN 5892

Quilt making is fascinating—come and join the fun! You'll love this Merry-Go-Round quilt—with strips the same width it's ever so simple to cut—and easy to piece, too. You must change about with two materials for the striking effect. Be sure to use a bright print, and "set it off" with a plain material. You'll be piecing the last few blocks before you know it. One 10-inch block with a border makes an attractive pillow. In pattern 5892 you will find the block chart, carefully drawn pattern pieces, a diagram of block which serves as a guide for placing the patches and suggests contrasting materials, directions for cutting, sewing and finishing, together with yardage chart, and a diagram of quilt to help arrange the blocks for single and double-bed size.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to The Journal, Household Arts Dept., 117 East Fifth street, Santa Ana, Calif. Be sure to write plainly your name, address and pattern number.

SAN BERNARDINO RETAINS LEAD WITH DONS

Riverside Netters Appear Here Tomorrow

Aiming For the Rose Bowl Classic

California's Bears were heavy favorites to trip Oregon today and continue on to the Coast conference championship and a bid to the Rose Bowl. Here is Perry Schwartz, brilliant 190-pound end, showing he's also an adept punter.

SPORTS Copy-Wrighted

By PAUL WRIGHT

From a scoring standpoint, there is little to choose between Santa Ana's present Dons and their Southern California champions of last fall.

Against the same five Eastern conference rivals, the junior collegians rolled up 99 points against 6 last year, while the present gang has netted 113 but has allowed 19 points.

The conference record:

THIS SEASON

27	Chaffey	0
7	San Bernardino	7
21	Riverside	6
14	Pomona	0
44	Citrus	6
113		19

LAST SEASON

7	Citrus	6
47	San Bernardino	0
26	Pomona	0
13	Riverside	6
6	Chaffey	0
99		6

Even if Bill Cook's present razzle-dazzle outfit goes scoreless against Fullerton here Thanksgiving day, the Dons will have a one-point edge on offense because the '36 band defeated Fullerton only 13-0. The cold dope indicates Fullerton will be lucky to get off that easily this year.

* * *

How about Floyd (Arky) Vaughan of Fullerton — will be move over to third base and make room for Pep Young at shortstop with the Pittsburgh Pirates next spring?

"The status of Vaughan has many of the club's backers in a lather," comments Charles Doyle in the current issue of The Sporting News.

* * *

"One group wants Arky on third base, while another says he should be in the outfield. Manager Traynor is not doing anything to quiet the talk on Vaughan, as he remains silent on the subject. Pie, however, is known to be of the opinion that Arky, as a shortstop, does not own that finesse that is an integral part of the movements in that difficult role."

It Happened on The Gridiron

Minnesota tried a forward-lateral pass play against Nebraska in 1932. The Minnesota end caught the forward, but was tackled by a Cornhusker so that his arms were pinned to his sides. The ball bounded along the ground, but was scooped up by Jack Manders, who made the touchdown which licked Nebraska, 7-6.—By Dana Xenophon Bible, Texas.

DON QUINTET WILL PLAY STUDIO ACES

Girding for their Eastern conference basketball season, Santa Ana Jaysee's promising cagers will step out of their class next Wednesday night to play the M. G. M. Studios of Culver City. The attraction will be held in Tustin's spacious gymnasium.

Jack Hupp, former U. S. C. sensation, and Dwane Swanson, Olympic stars, are members of the M. G. M. quintet. Purvis, Purdue's all-American; Orville Appleby, former U. C. L. A. great; and two Iowa athletes, Max Bickman and Glen Tangeman, are among the studio flashes.

There will be a 25-cent admission charge.

Coach Blanchard Beatty is building his Santa Ana quintet around out-of-state talent, which includes "Chuck" Barrett of Texas, high-scoring forward who won his letter here last season; Charley Hall, South Dakota star; "Cy" Leivermann, six-foot-six center from Minnesota; Del Holan, prep guard from Kansas; and Kenneth Marshall, North Dakotan who won his numeral here last year.

WAR ADMIRAL IN TRAINING

BERLIN, Mo. (AP)—War Admiral is back on Maryland's eastern shore where he trained for the campaign that crowned him king of the 3-year-olds.

George Conway, trainer for Samuel D. Riddle who owns the famous son of Man O' War, said today there has been no decision yet whether the colt will be shipped to Miami for the winter meeting. He also may be entered in the $100,000 handicap at Santa Anita next March 5.

War Admiral is getting daily workouts, Conway said, since being shipped here from Pimlico with Great Blaze, War Camp and Prince Alone.

The Admiral won his eight starts this year, including the Kentucky Derby, the Preakness and the Belmont Stakes, to earn $166,500. He never has run out of the money in 14 starts, winning 11, placing second in two and third in one.

PACHO GRANTED RETURN BOUT

BOSTON. (AP) — Boston Garden today arranged a return bout on Nov. 26 for Ralph Zannelli, Providence, R. I., welterweight, and Bobby Pacho, Los Angeles Mexican, whose 10-round bout ended last night in a dividend and unpopular verdict for Zannelli.

The Rhode Islander, who weighed 145, two and a half pounds less than his opponent, won his 26th professional victory. The two judges voted for him but Referee Johnny Brassil favored Pacho, and the crowd gave the Californian an ovation as he left the ring. Boos and catcalls greeted the decision.

Swede Berglund in Sacramento Draw

SACRAMENTO. (AP) — Lloyd Marshall, Cleveland 160 pounder, scored a knockdown in the eighth round and finished fast to earn a draw with Swede Berglund of San Diego, 163, last night after 10 torrid rounds.

THIRD TENNIS MATCH SET FOR LOCALS

Santa Ana Trailing Two Rivals After Gaining 168 Points

Citrus Belt league tennis rivalry will be resumed on Santa Ana High school's courts at 10 a. m. tomorrow when Capt. John Cress sends his local netters against Riverside.

Santa Ana, which lost to Pomona's league-leaders but disposed of Redlands in the second round last week, is holding down third place in the standings with 168 points. Pomona has 208, Fullerton 202, Redlands 137, Riverside 102 and Perris Hill 91.

Tomorrow's match will be the final one for Santa Ana at home, Cress' team journeying to Fullerton next week and winding up its schedule with Perris Hill at San Bernardino the following Sunday.

Santa Ana's lineup and time of matches:

Men's singles — Walter Blair, Toby White, Bob Blakemore and F. W. Cooper, 10 a. m.; Marvin Jacobs, noon.

Men's doubles—Kenneth Ranney and John Cress, 11 a. m.; Bob Heath and Carl Aubrey and Ritchey and Knight, noon.

Women's singles — Marjorie Blair and Mrs. Kathryn Williams, 11 a. m.

Mixed doubles—Mr. and Mrs. Gilmore Ward, 11 a. m.

FAVOR INDIANS OVER COUGARS

PALO ALTO. (AP) — Stanford's Indians line up as favorites over Washington State college here today in a football game which may knock them virtually out of the Pacific Coast conference race or set them up as definite contenders for the title.

Rain was in prospect for the game.

HANDBALL ACES NEAR FINALS

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Semi-final matches in the Pacific Coast handball championships were scheduled for tonight at the Los Angeles Elks club.

Among the survivors of the quarter-final rounds are Jack Clements, of the Olympic club, San Francisco, the Pacific coast singles champion, and Joe Gordon, Southern California champion of the Los Angeles Elks.

PUNTS & PASSES

NEW YORK. (AP)—Little do the young men of West Point and Notre Dame, as they smack each other around at Yankee stadium today, realize what a storm they have aroused in the breast of many an honest taxpayer.

The man who does know about it, though, is Capt. F. A. March, 3rd, public relations officer at the Point.

* * *

Thousands of honest taxpayers, it seems, are convinced they have a constitutional right to watch the Army eleven play both Notre Dame and the Navy. March, at the moment, is the deep-dyed villain who's holding out on the common people. He handles half the tickets.

Every ducat of today's game was disposed of weeks ago, and detectives employed by West Point have been haunting the trail of every ticket speculator in the city. When they find a ticket that has been sold originally to a member of the Army athletic association, that member is dropped forever.

"We have only 40,000 tickets to begin with," Captain March explained. "Notre Dame disposes of the other 40,000. Then, when we have taken care of some 30,000 applications from members of the Army association, there are only 10,000 left for the general public.

* * *

"Naturally, the public gets mad. There are a stack of letters on my desk every day, each one pointing out that the applicant is a taxpayer and is going to see the Army play or take it to his congressman."

Practically all the members of the Army athletic association are officers or ex-officers. They and their families flock to New York and Philadelphia annually for West Point's two big games.

"They are the ones who supported Army's athletics from long years back, when there were no big gate receipts, and we can't go back on them now," March said.

BAY MEADOWS ENDS 25-DAY MEETING; TANFORAN OPENS

SAN MATEO. (AP)—Eight top-notch sprinters, including Cascabelito, crack Argentine thoroughbred, were entered in today's $10,000-added World's Fair handicap, closing feature of the 25-day fall horserace meeting at Bay Meadows track.

Rain and a slow track were forecast.

Cascabelito, owned by Movie Actor Joe E. Brown, was assigned high weight of 118 pounds for the mile and one-eighth. Reputedly a good mudder, Cascabelito was the early favorite, with Jockey Frank Muschek up.

King Saxon, a champion miler a few years ago, was assigned 116 pounds. Sobriety and Sallys Booter each drew 115 pounds. Mary-Knell, a known mud horse with only 103 pounds impost, was a sharp contender.

Other entries were Star Shadow, 111 pounds; Grey Count, 107; and Wildland, 102.

Most of the horses from the Bay Meadows stables will move a few miles up the highway for the opening of the 25-day fall meeting at Tanforan track Tuesday.

COLLEGE ELEVENS SHOULD PASS LIKE PROS, SAYS RED GRANGE

CHICAGO. (AP) — College football, Red Grange believes, should "quit being stubborn and take a tip from the professionals."

"I see where some coaches are worrying about defense being so good that the game is slowing down," said the famous, one-time Galloping Ghost of Illinois today, "and I think they have something to worry about if they persist on refusing to make one single rule change just because we pros are using it.

"Too many scoreless ties? Too many dull games?" he continued. "One rule adjustment would take care of them—allow the college players to pass from anywhere back of the line of scrimmage as we do, instead of not closer to the line than five yards."

Grange, whose radio work, business affairs and duties as assistant coach of the Chicago Bears has prevented him from seeing a single "big" game this season, nevertheless has been following the college sport closely through the newspapers. He thinks the number of "dull" games is on the increase.

"When I was at Illinois we used a seven-man line all season," he said. "Against Northwestern last week, Illinois used a 5-4-2 setup and the Wildcats couldn't get going. I think coaches have concentrated on defense so much that offenses have been neglected and if college players could pass from any point behind the scrimmage line the secondary defense would have to stay back where it belongs.

"Look at the scoring in the pro game," he continued. "Lots of action all the time. The colleges could have it, too, under our pass rule, but when a pass play comes it's always pretty obvious and the secondary is up in a jump to make virtually eight and nine men on the line. No wonder the backs can't do much rushing. A few trick pass plays and the secondary would have to play back."

Grange said he hasn't seen enough football this fall to name many players he considers outstanding, but he'd like to have Fred Vanzo, Northwestern quarterback, on any team he selected. Vanzo, Grange believes, is one of the finest blockers and defensive players of the last two seasons.

"And I ought to know about blockers," Grinned Red. "Didn't I have 'em at Illinois?"

NEW MAT ACES APPEAR HERE

The Michigan "wildcat of the mat," Frank Clements, and Frankie Hill of Oklahoma, contender for the world light-heavyweight title, will meet in the special event on next Thursday night's wrestling program at the Orange County Athletic club.

This match and the opening bout between Marshall Carter, former University of Missouri grid star, and Joe Sabo of Canada, will complete the four-bout program that has as its feature a three-fall-to-a-finish battle between Monty La Due, Paris apache-wrestler, and Larry Tillman of Wisconsin.

BEAVERS, TROY DRAW 35,000

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Oregon State's football squad, just as anxious to kick Southern California down another rung of the Pacific Coast conference as it is to stay nearer the top, meets the Trojans in Memorial Coliseum today.

A crowd of 35,000 was expected, with the kickoff at 2:15.

Babe Ruth Faces John Montague In Charity Golf

NEW YORK. (AP)—Two famous sluggers, (Mysterious) John Montague and the not-so-mysterious Babe Ruth, will hook up in a golfing duel for charity at the Fresh Meadow club, Flushing, L. I., tomorrow.

Two well-known women golfers, Mrs. Sylvia Annenberg of Flushing and Babe Didrikson, the tall Texan, will be their partners in the exhibition, the two Babes playing together.

The match marks Monty's first appearance in the east although his legendary golfing feats are well known. As for Ruth, everyone knows he can hit them a mile if he can only keep them straight.

Lawn Bowling Club To Be Formed Here

Lawn bowling enthusiasts of Santa Ana today were laying plans for the formation of a club similar to the one which has been gaining in popularity at Laguna Beach.

All persons interested in the sport have been extended an invitation by Crawford Nalle to attend a special exhibition on the lawn-bowling green in Santiago creek park at 1 p. m. tomorrow.

Laguna Beach will bring approximately 30 players here for the exhibition. Equipment will be furnished and instruction offered by the visiting club, Nalle said.

The Santiago park green has been in good shape for the past month, and can accomodate 64 players.

Three-Way Tie for First Looms in Billiard Tourney

PHILADELPHIA. (AP)—A three-way tie for first place loomed today in the world's pocket billiard championship as the round-robin tourney entered its second last day.

Everything depends on Willie Mosconi of Philadelphia, who lost last night to Erwin Rudolph of Cleveland, 125 to 121, in 49 innings, after leading by 117 to 80 as late as the forty-seventh inning.

Mosconi meets Irving Crane, the 23-year-old Livonia, N. Y., youth who has bounded to the top of the heap with six straight victories after losing to George Kelly of Philadelphia Oct. 28.

If Mosconi beats Crane, either Ralph Greenleaf, of New York, the defending champion, and Rudolph will join them in a triple deadlock for first. Greenleaf and Rudolph meet tonight after the Mosconi-Crane match.

Jimmy Caras of Wilmington, Del., assured himself of at least fifth place by beating Andrew Ponzi, of Philadelphia, 125 to 34, in 20 innings in last night's other match.

Jess Willard, Jr. Whips 1st Rival

POTLATCH, Idaho. (AP)—Young Jess Willard, son of the former world heavyweight champion, celebrated his ring debut with a decision over Keller Wagner of the Potlatch Athletic club last night.

Willard, 179, and over six feet, won his decision through superior boxing and speed. Wagner weighed 180.

A. A. U. SEEKS RE-ELECTION OF MAHONEY

Forty-Ninth Annual Convention Opens In Boston Today

By BILL BONI

BOSTON. (AP)—Defeated by a vast fusion majority in his recent campaign to become mayor of New York, Jeremiah T. Mahoney may be re-elected president of the National Amateur Athletic union without campaigning at all by another fusion majority that practically amounts to popular acclaim.

The head of amateur sport's ruling organization already has announced he is not a candidate for a second term. But the delegates to the A. A. U.'s forty-ninth annual convention, which opened a busy three-day program today, are paying that announcement little heed.

Those who helped elect him a year ago and many of those who then were fighting him are hand-in-hand in the mushrooming motion to keep the New York attorney in office. There aren't, in fact, even any prominent candidates to run against him.

But Mahoney is a central figure at this convention for other reasons as well. In addition to being president, he also is head of the executive and foreign relations committee, one of 31 scheduled to meet today and the one to which principal interest was directed.

This committee is the one that will recommend, when the delegates gather in general assembly tomorrow, the stand to be taken on the National Collegiate Athletic association's campaign for control of American Olympic committees on track and field, swimming, rowing and wrestling.

That control now rests with the A. A. U. The question before the house is whether to retain it, relinquish it or seek a compromise arrangement that will satisfy both parties.

This convention promises to be unusual. Unlike previous meetings, there is no discernible internal friction, somewhat of a record in itself. Furthermore, the amount of business to be transacted would do credit to a special session of congress.

When the delegates have disposed of the award of national championships, approved or disallowed 136 records, passed on 55 revisions in the A. A. U. code and finally have finished up on Monday with the election of officers, "little man, you've had a busy day" will be more of a slogan than a song title.

A rematch for the Eastern conference football title between Southern California's most powerful jaysee elevens, Santa Ana and San Bernardino, was in prospect today. Duplicating the Dons' three touchdowns and one safety against Riverside last week, San Bernardino went one better by converting each score as they drubbed the Tigers, 23 to 0, at Riverside last night.

In assuring themselves of the right to get another crack at the Dons whom they deadlocked, 7 to 7, early in the season, Doug Smythe's Braves tallied in the final three quarters after a first quarter of tight football.

MONFORT SCORES

San Bernardino must defeat Citrus at Azusa Thanksgiving day, while the Dons have Fullerton to eliminate here before clashing in the first league playoff since 1934. Both should win handily, however.

Driving down to Riverside's 10-yard line in the second quarter, San Bernardino opened up a gigantic hole over tackle through which Avery Monfort, the spark plug frosh quarter, scampered for the first score. Center Jim Verdieck kicked the conversion.

With the Tigers threatening in the third period, Tackle Robertson of San Bernardino intercepted one of Frank Boyd's strikes and romped 57 yards for the touchdown. Bobby Templeton added another tally when he crashed through from the three-yard line, after a Riverside fumble had been recovered on the 10. A fumbled punt behind the goal gave the Braves their extra two points.

SALINAS VS. DONS

Pomona Jaysee's Red Raiders cinched third place in the conference at Fullerton last night, where they checked the Hornets, 13-0, on second and fourth quarter scores. Although Co-Capt. Johnny Casey was held scoreless for the third straight week, Bud Gray wasn't as he engineered an 80-yard drive, going over from the four-yard line for the first score. Bob Cocharan passed to Bob Smith for the final touchdown.

PADRE BOSS ON 'IVORY' TOUR

SAN DIEGO. (AP)—Bill Lane, 77-year-old owner of San Diego's coast league Padres, leaves today on a "horse trading" trip for new players.

Lane, after visiting friends in Salt Lake City, will continue on to the national minor league meeting, opening at Milwaukee Dec. 1 to pick up new players.

'ANGEL' HERE ON SUNDAY

Broadway Also to Show Erwin Film

Two of fildom's most popular actors, Melvyn Douglas and Herbert Marshall, are co-starred with Marlene Dietrich in "Angel," which opens tomorrow at the Broadway theater with a second attraction, "Small Town Boy,' according to Manager George King.

In "Angel" Herbert Marshall plays the part of an absobed diplomat, who gives all his time and attention to political problems instead of his wife, who resents his lack of attention. She finally leaves her home to make a quiet trip to Paris, in search of some adventure to relieve the drabness of her usual life.

In Paris she meets Melvyn Douglas, and the two fall in love. They have one evening together, and the wife determines that he must not know who she is and must not see her again. She flies back to home and her husband, who is still wrapped up in affairs of state. A strange quirk of fate brings Marshall and Douglas together, and Douglas is astounded to learn that the woman he fell in love with as the "Angel" is his friend's wife. From that point on the film moves quickly to an unexpected climax. The cast includes Ernest Cossart, Edward Everett Horton, Laura Hope Crews and others.

Second attraction is "Small Town Boy," with that prince of comics, Stuart Erwin in the starring role.

It was adapted from the famous magazine story, "The Thousand Dollar Bill," and deals with a timid, small town lad, who is an easy mark for everyone until he finds a $1000 bill. A notable cast supports Erwin, including Joyce Compton, Jed Prouty, Clara Bandick, James Blakely and Dorothy Appleby.

Selected short subjects include an unusally funny novelty, "The Boss Didn't Say Good Morning." and World News events.

Liverwurst Lack Shows Love Lost

NEW YORK. (AP)—When the liverwurst left his lunchbox, Charles A. Stiff testified today, he knew his wife's love had flown out the window.

Stiff, veteran baggage master of the New York Central railroad, has sued Oscar F. Douglas, jr., an executive of the F. W. Woolworth company, for $250,000 charging alienation of affections.

He said he first suspected his wife's love was ebbing when she began receiving gifts from a mysterious "Uncle Horace." But he knew he had lost it entirely, he added, when "she left out the liverwurst" from his daily lunch box.

Jack Holt Film Closes Tonight

Jack Holt, chief Western star, takes the leading role in "Roaring Timber," which closes tonight at the State theater. Featured players in the cast are Grace Bradley, Ruth Connelly and Raymond Hatton. The picture is a story of the logging country.

Also on the bill are a Charley Chase comedy, color cartoon, news and chapter four of "Secret Agent X-9."

'Dead End' Closes Run at Walker's

Closing tonight at Walker's theater is "Dead End," New York drama which on the stage was the sensation of Broadway. Sylvia Sidney and Joel McCrea take starring roles in the production.

"Eacy Living," a rip-roaring comedy, is the second feature. Starred in the production are Jean Arthur, Edward Arnold, Ray Milland and Luis Alberni.

Income Of Typical Family Of Small City Put At $1500

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The annual income of the typical American family in the average small city is close to $1500, the bureau of home economics reported today.

It based that estimate on interviews with 14,400 families in 19 small cities selected as representative of American communities which have populations ranging between 9000 and 19,000.

TOP MEDIAN INCOME

The bureau reported the highest median income was $1617, found at Klamath Falls, Or.

In only six of the cities did the cross-section sampling show homeowning families outnumbering renting families. Highest ranking in home-ownership was Logan, Utah, with a percentage of 64. Lowest was Astoria, Or., with a percentage of 17.

FAMILIES ON RELIEF

The average size of families on relief in the nineteen cities ranges from 3.4 to 5.1, while for non-relief families, the average is 3.2 to 4.5.

"As a general trend," the bureau said, "home-owning was more frequent in the higher income brackets. As the income level rose the rent level quickly followed, indicating that any increase of income was likely to be reflected in better housing."

Labor Parley to Open Thursday

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The peace conference between the American Federation of Labor and Committee for Industrial Organization is scheduled to resume next Thursday.

Little progress has been made toward reuniting the warring labor factions, split two years ago on the issue of whether mass production industry workers should be organized by industry or by craft.

Most of the discussion so far has centered around the question of whether the A. F. of L. peace committee had power to make a settlement and whether the disputes between individual unions should be referred to subcommittees.

Arrested After Six Months' Chase

A patient six-months chase through Southern California was climaxed yesterday by the arrest of Claude Cox, 31, former Santa Ana man, on a warrant charging non-support of a minor child.

Systematic checking of telephone and other utility directories in every Southern California county produced seven Claude Coxes before Deputy Sheriff John Gilmore finally found the one he wanted in Pasadena.

Mrs. Ruby Cox, 1011 North Van Ness street, had signed a complaint against her former husband early last spring, but he assertedly had evaded arrest by moving from one town to another at frequent intervals. He was remarried in Pasadena recently, Gilmore reported.

Carburetor May Use Natural Gas

DAYTON, Ohio. (AP)—Perfection of an adapter which will supplant the carburetor in motor vehicle engines, using natural gas as a substitute for gasoline was claimed today by P. N. Jarboe, a San Antonio, Texas, inventor.

The adapter, Jarboe stated, weighs 18 pounds, feeds the natural gas into the motor after changing it from a highly compressed liquid into its original gaseous state, just as gasoline vaporizes before exploding in the engine.

Girls Honored By Society

WINTERSBURG. — Queen Esther society members entertained seventh and eighth grade girls of the Oceanview school at a pot-luck supper Tuesday evening in the social hall of the Methodist church.

Present were Maxine Bingle, Isabelle Tucker, Maxine Murdy, Betty Slater, Dorothy Murdy, Betty Jean Beem, Alice Slater, Loraine Rogers, Vivian Gothard, Barbara Hunnicutt, Andrea Gardner, Evelyn Woods, Helen Bergner, Fallice Mae Groves and leaders of the group, Mrs. William F. Slater and Mrs. J. T. Tucker.

'HEIDI' FINEST SHIRLEY FILM

Two new dances of a type she never has done before on the screen are featured in "Heidi," Shirley Temple's new starring picture now at the West Coast theater, bringing to the screen the warmth, tenderness and beauty of Johanna Spyri's tale of the Swiss Alps.

The dances are production numbers in a special drama sequence. Happy with the gift of a pair of wooden shoes from her grandfather, played by Jean Hersholt, little Heidi falls asleep and in her dreams is carried first to a white palace where she dances a minuet with a handsome Prince Charming. A chorus of 26 supports Shirley in this number in powdered white wigs and hooped skirts.

Shirley's little wooden shoes then take her to a colorful scene along the Zuyder Zee in Holland, to the accompaniment of a charming new song, "In Our Little Wooden Shoes." This sequence occurs on one of the most unusual sets ever built. A man-made lake covers the quarter-acre floor of a huge sound-stage, to mirror the wooden shoe dance of Shirley and the children's chorus, all garbed in Dutch costumes.

The second attraction is "Borrowing Trouble," another of the popular Jones Family series in which the family plays big brother to a tough youngster who needs friendly interest and encouragement to wean him away from his own weakling brother and his own bad companions. The efforts to salvage the boy, considered incorrigible, trace a fine line between homespun comedy and heart-touching pathos. The cast includes Jed Prouty, Shirley Dean, Spring Byington and Russell Gleason.

LEGION MAY HONOR DUKE

PARIS. (AP)—British World war legionnaires today planned an event at which the Duke of Windsor would be received—in replacement of the invitation to Armistice day services which their former comrade declined Thursday.

Col. Theodore Crowther, commander of the Paris post of the legion, said several suggestions had been made and the legion would attempt to fulfill the duke's wish to meet the legionnaires.

One of the former monarch's associates said he believed Windsor's disappointment at not being able to attend yesterday's memorial ceremonies at St. George's church and Notre Dame cathedral was greater than when he recently postponed his tour of the United States.

Members of the duke's suite said Windsor was "stunned" by the statement of the vicar at St. George's, the Rev. J. L. C. Dart: "I would rather the duke did not attend the services."

The duke cancelled his acceptance of the legionnaire's invitation to the church following the vicar's comment.

Britain May Take Over Coal Mines

LONDON. (AP)—The government proposed today that the British coal mining industry be operated by the state.

Private operators would be bought out at a cost of $332,250,000, under the terms of a government bill published today and to be submitted to parliament.

A new coal commission would be established to replace the present coal mines reorganization commission, and any new coal discoveries automatically would come under commission jurisdiction.

The work of assessing mines and reimbursing present owners would take until July 1, 1942, whereupon the government would assume full title. There are 4300 private coal mine owners now.

SKATER IN ICE DRAMA

Romance and drama in snow-silvered settings, "One in a Million" opens tomorrow for a two-day run at the State theater, co-starring Sonja Henie and Don Ameche.

Besides Miss Henie, world figure-skating champion, the picture features Adolphe Menjou, Jean Hersholt, Ned Sparks, Don Ameche, the Ritz Brothers, Arline Judge, Borrah Minnevitch and his harmonica gang, Dixie Dunbar, Leah Ray and Shirley Deane.

Sonja plays the daughter of a Swiss innkeeper who is being trained by her father, Jean Hersholt, to capture the Olympic figure-skating championship. Don Ameche, young American newspaperman investigating a mystery, makes news of the girl's progress. Other stars are brought into the picture as a vaudeville troupe headed by Menjou.

Second feature is "Draegerman Courage," romance of the gold fields. Barton MacLane has the role of the man whose courage finally effected the rescue of miners trapped underground, while Jean Muir, his sweetheart, assists. Henry O'Neill plays the part of Miss Muir's father, a country doctor and another of the men caught in the abandoned mine shaft.

P. E. 'UNFAIR' BOARD HEARS

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—The Pacific Electric Railway company has been playing the role of "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" in its dealings with employes, Henry Melnikow, representing the brotherhood of railway trainmen, charged today at the hearing before President Roosevelt's special mediation board.

Melnikow engaged in a hot word duel with Frank Karr, vice president and general counsel of the company after the latter said the company entered negotiations voluntarily with the brotherhood.

Melnikow is attempting to show the P. E. is in reality a railroad and not just a street car line. He cited a decision of the interstate commerce commission of May 8, 1936, which held P. E. came under provisions of the railway labor act.

"The company cannot continue to play the part of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," said Melnikow. "Either it is a railroad under the railway labor act, or it has no right to appeal to this board for aid dealing with its employes."

SEND CHILDREN BACK TO SPAIN

LONDON. (AP)—One hundred and sixty Basque children whom Britain rescued from war in Northern Spain started back for their homeland today, many of them in tears.

The first contingent to be repatriated out of 4000 boys and girls who had been given refuge in England, they entrained at Victoria station for the start of the land and water journey to territory now under insurgent military sway.

"They were all terribly sorry to go back," said Mrs. Leah Manning, a member of the National Joint Committee for Basque Children.

"They are more afraid of Franco's rule than Franco's bombs. We have had forms stating that relatives of the children want them back but in many cases I don't feel sure the parents are still alive."

'Wee Willie Winkie'

Victor McLaglen and Shirley Temple are shown above in a scene from "Wee Willie Winkie," which opens tomorrow at Walker's theater for a four-day showing.

'One in a Million' at State

Here's Husband Who Also Was Good Businessman

LOS ANGELES. (AP) — Mrs. Elizabeth Maguire pictured her husband, William, as a man who certainly believes in business methods of operating a household.

She testified in her separate maintenance suit that Maguire, a Hollywood hardware dealer, has $1000 a month income and they have $75,000 community property, but he gave her only $20 a week to pay all household expenses except the rent—with four adults in the family.

Here is her story:

One time she exceeded her allowance. She pawned some jewelry to pay bills, and her husband learned about it. He told her:

"Well, we might as well keep the interest in the family, so I will loan you the amount you owe the pawnbroker and will charge you $1 a week.

This had to come out of her allowance.

Whenever Maguire ate a meal away from home he would deduct 50 cents from the allowance. When the rent was raised from $30 a month to $40, she had to make up the difference in her budget.

If she needed household utensils, he brought them home from his store and deducted the cost from her allowance.

Patriot Falls From Boat, Gives Water Salute

LONDON. (AP)—If someone only knew his name, the London public might have a new British hero.

The unidentified Briton was rowing in Regents park lake when Big Ben sounded the signal yesterday for two minutes of silence honoring the war dead.

Attempting to stand in his skiff, he tumbled into the lake but came to rigid attention waist deep in water.

He was praised for carrying on.

Jones to Quit as Trojan Coach

LOS ANGELES. (AP)— The Los Angeles Examiner said today it learned from a friend of Coach Howard H. Jones that the Trojan mentor has tendered his resignation as the head football coach at the University of Southern California effective at the end of the current season.

The friend, whose name was withheld, was quoted as saying Coach Jones would quit to give his entire attention to private business, which includes a paper mill he owns in Ohio.

Rumors that Coach Jones' contract will not be renewed this year have been current for some time, but always they have been denied by President Rufus B. Von Kleinsmid of the university.

The newspaper said the story will be denied officially at this time, since it was Coach Jones' request the resignation be kept a secret.

LEWD PICTURE CHARGE

Charged with selling lewd and immoral pictures to a minor boy, H. E. Brandt, 27, Santa Ana Gardens, was arrested at his home yesterday on a warrant issued by Justice of the Peace Kenneth E. Morrison. He was booked in the county jail on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of minors.

MEXICAN ARRESTED

Jose Duarte, 27, Chihuahua, Mex., was booked in the county jail here yesterday on a charge of violating the federal immigration act.

INDIA STORY STARS CHILD

Adventure in the Kipling style blazes in "Wee Willie Winkie," coming tomorrow to Walker's theater and showing through Wednesday night.

Shirley Temple and Victor McLaglen play the starring roles in a film which starts off in the railroad station at Rajpore, India, where Shirley and her widowed mother, June Lang, have arrived to live at a frontier post.

Shirley picks up a treasured amulet when Khoda Kahn, a fierce native chieftain, is caught. She tries to become a soldier under the gruff sergeant, McLaglen, but gets into several kinds of hot water, including getting lost at night in Khyber pass.

The equality of women gets better than an even break in "My Dear Miss Aldrich," second feature on the bill. Edna May Oliver, Maureen O'Sullivan and Walter Pidgeon take leading roles in the film, which tells the story of a school teacher who inherits a newspaper.

Also on the bill are "The Saw Mill Mystery," a cartoon, and a newsreel.

Comedy, Drama End Tonight

Theatergoers of this vicinity who like to see two features of contrasting theme, will enjoy the program which closes at the Broadway theater tonight, it was announced today by Manager George King. The program ending tonight includes "The Great Garrick" and "Portia on Trial."

A gay comedy of the eighteenth century, "The Great Garrick" stars Brian Aherne and Olivia de Havilland. It is a costume play, but it is not at all a dramatic photoplay, nor is it a serious sketch of David Garrick, the greatest actor in the world at the time. The picture is just a whole lot of fun, showing Garrick as he was, a gay, rollicking fellow, who speeds happily through a series of astounding adventures and romances. The cast includes Edward Everett Horton, Melville Cooper, Lionel Atwill and Luis Alberni.

The second feature is "Portia on Trial," a brilliant drama of the criminal courts starring Frieda Inescort and featuring Walter Abel, Neil Hamilton, Ruth Donnelly and Heather Angel. The photoplay deals with the trials of an attractive and successful woman lawyer, who many years before had been the victim of an illicit love affair.

Nation's Banks Show Big Profit

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—Profits of the nation's national banks for the last fiscal year increased 18.58 per cent, Comptroller of the Currency J. F. T. O'Connor told the Southwestern Bankers' association today.

Net profits for last year amounted to $268,561,000, up $44,907,000 from the year previous, he announced. "The condition of our going banks is a good indication of the recovery which has been made in the country," O'Connor said.

Department For Lovelorn Is Aim of Writer

WASHINGTON. (AP) — The interior department spurned today a New Yorker's proposal to set up a clearance bureau for the nation's lovelorn.

"Why shouldn't the government conduct one?" asked a letter to the department. "Don't you realize nothing could be more worthy?

"Don't treat this letter lightly," added the author, whose name was withheld.

The officials didn't. They passed the buck to capitol hill.

"You are aware," they answered, "that the department of the interior could not set up such a correspondence bureau, as suggested, without the authority of congress."

Daughter And Mother Are Hostesses

The first of a series of bridge parties that Mrs. C. A. Vance and her daughter, Mrs. William Grey (Louise Vance) have planned to be given at intervals throughout the winter season was held yesterday afternoon at the pleasant Vance home in Tustin.

Warm yellow chrysanthemums everywhere were used to decorate the rooms and tables, and their design was repeated in tallies and place-cards. High score prizes were awarded late in the day to Mrs. Stanley Norton and Mrs. Burt Zaiser.

Guests of Mrs. Vance and Mrs. Grey were Mrs. R. G. Tuthill, Miss Mary Tuthill, Miss Martha Tuthill, Mrs. F. E. Farnsworth, Mrs. W. D. Ranney, Mrs. W. I. Ferrey, Mrs. Wyckoff Hoxie, Mrs. Perry Lewis, Mrs. V. V. Tubbs, Miss Louise Tubbs, Mrs. Burt Zaiser, Mrs. Stanley Norton, Mrs. Carleton Smith, Mrs. John Newman, Mrs. W. E. Otis, and Miss Jean Ferrey.

BENEFIT DINNER IS SUCCESSFUL

Preceded by a benefit dinner sponsored by the Mothers' club, a stated meeting of the local bethel of Job's Daughters was held Wednesday evening in the Masonic Temple. A short business meeting was conducted by Miss Mary Crowe, honored queen.

James Frasier, worshipful master of Masonic orders in California, spoke to the group for a short time. Plans were made for the next meeting, last of the term, which will be initiation and election of officers. The committee for the affair, arranging a pot-luck dinner to precede, are Esther Belle Christian, Jo Butler, Aileen Gibbs, Celena McBurney, Adelaide Johnson, Martha Horseman, Carolyn Rogers, and Dorthea Eddy.

About 225 people were reported present for the benefit banquet. Mrs. Harry Crowe acted as chairman for the affair, assisted by Mrs. Claude McFarren, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Rogers, Mrs. Guy Christian, Mrs. Pletke, Mrs. Ernest Horseman, Mrs. Maggie May Read, Mrs. Charles Carson, Mrs. W. J. Dean, Mrs. Eddy, Mrs. Ed Farmer, Mrs. Plummer Bruns, and Mrs. Roland Rosselot.

HOUSE GUEST HONORED AT LUNCHEON

As a gracious gesture to her sister who has been her houseguest here for the past week, Mrs. Phillip McVicar, 1123½ French street, entertained two tables for a charming luncheon, followed by an afternoon of contract at the Santa Ana Country club yesterday afternoon.

Miss Betty Wiegandt of Oakland has been the guest here, since she came to Southern California to attend the U. S. C.-Stanford game last Saturday. She will return north next Wednesday.

The afternoon was spent informally with chatting interspersing the bridge play. Mrs. E. H. Guthier won high prize, Mrs. Paul Hall the second, and the honor guest, Miss Wiegandt, consolation.

Those who were guests of Mrs. McVicar to meet Miss Wiegandt were Mrs. Albert Harvey, Mrs. Paul Hall, Mrs. Robert Miller, Mrs. George Walker, Mrs. E. H. Guthier, and Mrs. E. E. Baker.

RELIEF CORPS PREPARES FOR BAZAAR

Sewing for the bazaar soon to be held, occupied the majority of time Wednesday when the Sedgewick Women's Relief corps met for luncheon and business session in the M. W. A. hall. Mrs. Hattie Cozad presided over the meeting attended by 30 members.

Mrs. Kate Johnson was welcomed to the club after a summer's absence while she was visiting in Minnesota and Oregon. The sick report revealed that Mrs. Helen Aubin is reported improved and Mrs. Margaret Hill has returned to her home from the hospital.

Two visitors were present for the meeting, including Mrs. Chloe E. Lamb of Burr Oak, Kan., who is the guest of Mrs. Hannah Huntington, and Mrs. Elizabeth Sawyer of Aitken, Minn., the guest of Mrs. Joseph Marshall.

REHEARSAL AT SUPPER PARTY

Following rehearsal of their wedding scheduled for Sunday, Miss Helen Demetriou and Paul Johnson last evening were honor guests at a supper party given by the George Demetrious, parents of the bride-elect.

In the informal group were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Higgins, Mr. and Mrs. Carleton Smith, Miss Valerie Demetriou, Miss Dorothy Dunbar, Miss E. Morgan, Miss Betty Campbell, Clifford Erickson, Harry Warren, Clifford Demetriou, and the honored couple.

EDISON P.-T. A.

Mexican Cafe Setting Of Dinner

A novel touch in dinner parties was given last evening when Mr. and Mrs. Mortimer Plum entertained half a dozen couples and took them to a new Mexican cafe in Fullerton, "El Chico."

Here they were treated to a delightful Mexican menu, served at a long table decorated with a procession of burros, peons, and lighted candles to heighten the effect of bright-colored furniture and peasant atmosphere.

Later the group returned to the Plum home on Edgewood road for amusing games, for which William Thornton White, jr., won first prize. Guests of the Plums were the Edward Halls, the Dexter Balls, the W. T. Whites, the Paul Dinsmores, the Lloyd Chenoweths, Miss Prudence Roberts, and Ensign John Barleon.

GARDEN GROVE ENJOYS LUNCHEON

Mrs. Clyde Walker was hostess to members of the Santa Ana Garden Study club in her lovely home at 2410 North Park boulevard, yesterday afternoon for a delightful noon luncheon. Assisting her as co-hostesses were Mrs. W. M. Gregg, Mrs. J. H. Turner, and Mrs. W. R. Heath.

In the afternoon a business session was conducted by Mrs. R. B. Steadman in the absence of Mrs. C. W. Harrison, the president. During the program, Mrs. M. E. Redmond spoke on "This Month in the Garden," and Mrs. Mabel Lambert discussed "Indoor Gardens." Mrs. M. E. Geeting conducted a panel discussion on "Outstanding American Gardens," assisted by Mrs. Frank Harwood, Mrs. R. B. Steadman, Mrs. Holmes Bishop and Mrs. F. H. Cloyes.

One new member, Mrs. C. H. Vorce was introduced to the group. Announcement was made that the next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. H. M. Baldridge, 924 Olive street, on Jan. 14.

Members present for the afternoon were Mesdames Kenneth Morrison, E. M. Redmond, James Pospesil, B. W. Ellis, Holmes Bishop, Frank Harwood, C. G. Strock, M. E. Geeting, Clyde Walker, W. M. Gregg, J. H. Turner, W. R. Heath, Guy Belcher, Frank Miller, E. T. Hayden, T. E. Turnaut, Jack Willey, Mason Yould, Robert Bisbee, F. H. Cloyes, Mabel Lambert, C. W. Davies, H. M. Baldridge, R. H. Steadman, Lena McMillan, C. H. Vorce, Miss Ora Davis and Miss Edith Stanley.

COMUS DANCE AT ORANGE

Hosts and hostesses will be Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harwood, Mr. and Mrs. Tevis Westgate, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Monroe, and Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Sundquist.

FRANKLIN P.-T. A.

Franklin P.-T. A. members will have their regular meeting in the school at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday, Nov. 19. Mrs. Dorothy Russick of the Santa Ana police force will speak on "Outdoor Recreation." Mrs. Noah Wilson will conduct a business meeting, and third grade mothers will be hostesses.

Palm Springs Is Scene Of Inaugural

Festive doings are in store for a group of Santa Anans and couples from other cities in the Southland who drove to Palm Springs this afternoon for the week-end.

Fifty-Fifty dance club is having its annual installation celebration, a week-end party at El Mirador in the resort city. A dinner and dance tonight, breakfast and golf match and swimming tomorrow will be climaxed by the inauguration dinner at which Wayne Harrison of Santa Ana will become president.

In the party of those who left this afternoon were Mr. and Mrs. Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. Riley Huber, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Burns, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Winder, Mr. and Mrs. Hume West, Mr. and Mrs. Leland Finley, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. V. B. Anderson, Dr. and Mrs. Stanley Norton, Dr. and Mrs. E. F. Bruning, Paul Beckman and Al Fernandez, all of Santa Ana; the Bus McCoys and William Queales of Fullerton, the Ewald Lempkes of Anaheim, the Sam Kraemers of Placentia; the Bob Redingtons, Ray Hinikers, and Harl Crocketts of Los Angeles; John Fleming of Long Beach; the Ross Ingrams and James Tumas of Whittier, the Don Knapps of San Bernardino, and the Everett Lutzes of Garden Grove.

GARDEN GROUP TO LUNCH ON THURSDAY

Floral and table arrangements for the Yuletide are to be brought by Ebell Garden section members to their regular meeting and luncheon next Thursday. The program will consist of criticising them, and of witnessing an exhibition of Christmas wrappings.

Hostesses for the 12:30 p. m. luncheon are to be Mrs. J. E. Liebig, Mrs. T. E. McLeod, Mrs. A. J. Bowers, Mrs. Clyde Bach, Mrs. Howard Wassum, and Mrs. C. E. Westgate. Those unable to attend are asked to call Mrs. J. C. Lamb at 5226-W, Mrs. Liebig at 3227, or Mrs. Carothers at the clubhouse.

CLUB MEETS AT HOME OF SKIRVINS

Friday Afternoon club members enjoyed a pleasant session yesterday at the Oak street home of Mrs. C. F. Skirvin. Their usual informal conversation and sewing period was augmented by interesting reminiscences on the part of Mrs. Clara Wilson and Mrs. O. H. Barr, both of whom have just returned from trips.

Special guests, in the absence of Mrs. T. E. Stephenson, were Mrs. Charles Druitt and Mrs. E. S. Tradewell.

Members present were Mrs. Alex Brownridge, Mrs. W. B. Williams, Mrs. Jean Metzgar, Mrs. E. B. Sprauge, Mrs. Harry Spencer, Mrs. Helen Heil, Mrs. Oliver Halsell, Mrs. F. W. Wiesseman, Mrs. L. A. West, Mrs. Clara Wilson, Mrs. H. J. Forgy, Mrs. O. H. Barr, and the hostess.

SANTA ANANS ARE GUESTS AT FULLERTON

Among guests at a charming party given in Fullerton this week by Mrs. A. W. Cleaver in her lovely Fern Drive home were a number of Santa Anans.

They included Mrs. M. A. Yarnell, Mrs. George Briggs, Mrs. W. D. Ranney, Mrs. Parke Roper, and Mrs. C. V. Davis, who was winner of first prize.

BOLSA P.-T. A. PLANS AFFAIR

Planning the initial meeting of the Bolsa P.-T.A. Study Group for Wednesday, Nov. 17, at the home of Mrs. Roy Head at 1:30 p. m., the P.-T.A. met this week with Mrs. Dorothy Schyling presiding.

After an interesting talk on contagious diseases presented by Miss Isobel Durgan, superintendent of Orange county school nurses, refreshments were served by a committee composed of Mrs. Lily Cosner, Miss Dorothy Knapp, and Mrs. Mignon Walters.

Mrs. Charles Sly, Mrs. Hattie Drake, and Mrs. Richard Maher were named members of a committee to start a soup kitchen Nov. 29.

COUNTRY CLUB HOSTS TOLD

Hosts and hostesses tomorrow evening at the weekly buffet supper for County Club members and their guests will be Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Bushard and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Langley.

Last night's evening card party was attended by nearly 40 people, with high score prizes going to Mrs. F. E. Farnsworth, Mrs. C. V. Davis, Roy Langley, and Bob Fernandez. Mrs. Robert Miller and A. G. Flagg were winners of the lucky prize.

A SENTIMENT CYNICAL

When haughty girls become inimical
They are, like hospitals, depressingly clinical.

* * *

A comforting but surprising observation: That prize dances are nearly always won by people who glide in the collegiate style of dips and divisions that were in vogue ten years ago—not by the hotcha dancers. And Marie Terry and Toby White are starting traditions. Saturday night's Tux and Gown prize was the second they've capped. At that it was hard to differentiate between the surviving couples—and Gloria and Bill White certainly looked good, too.

* * *

* * *

Versatility is the order of the day. When a clever person can do one thing well he or she generally has numerous other accomplishments. For instance Rose Marie Flint not only is a violin virtuoso, but a talented woodcarver. She has made a most beautiful pair of heavy oak casements for the front high window of the Flint Mexican farmhouse on Heliotrope. Closed from within they prohibit the necessity of blinds, and are impressively decorative.

* * *

Other people do clever things in their homes, too. Buddy Horton is finishing an exquisite piece of needlework that will soon cover one of those adorable little squatty Victorian chairs. And while making it she's knit at least three suits for herself. Phil McVicar has spliced two old phonograph cabinets and now has a handsome console. Lloyd Morris has painted his house with the most professional of results. Florence Nalle sketches amusing little bright-colored animal caricatures as gifts for her friends, and frames them herself. And Claude Brakebill hooks the most beautiful rugs you ever saw. Emrys White, jr, fiddles with tools and has evolved among other things a handsome heavy mahogany coffee table. And Al Harvey has built at least two of their living room chairs himself.

Which reminds me that the Brakebills have a new hobby—that of adding specimens to a miniature bar—tiny little bottles of every conceivable brand of product. When you see it you feel the same delight that Colleen Moore's dollhouse evokes—a sort of helpless awe of tiny things.

* * *

It's getting time to talk turkey, folks. One wife I know has finally discovered a virtue in her husband's golf—it's won them their Thanksgiving bird. Whether it will continue to compensate for a year of solitary Saturday afternoons and Sundays until next Thanksgiving, however, is dubious.

* * *

By the same token, the magic of football season is nearly o'er. Fifty-Fifty club's big week-end party at Palm Springs this week-end has brought pleasure to at least two outside couples—yours truly who get to use the Wayne Harrison ducats for the S. C.-Oregon State fracas today—and ditto for the Francis Nortons, who big-gamed on the Stanley Nortons' season passes. Last week-end the Lester Tubbses were among those pigskinning—and later took in the city's night life with their close friends, Major and Mrs. Randolph Gordon.

* * *

What's this I hear about the John Newmans joining the cavalcade into ancient Mexico? Pretty nice, if true. And Edith Cloyes is vibrating over the prospect of a snowy Christmas with old friends in Kansas City.

* * *

Devastating moment of the week: Ruggles Richmond proudly displaying a certain Japanese print for which she'd searched nine years, only to be met with a blank "Oh yes—they are nice, aren't they?"

* * *

* * *

News flashes: Marian Loerch is definitely back in town. The Russell Wilsons and Bobbie Joe are week-ending at Forest Home. Hetty Irwin and little Susan have been seen looking at teeny-weeny garments. Alvin Stauffer is losing his Junior Ebell eligibility tomorrow on a certain birthday anniversary. And my good friend Skinny Skirvin, today entered his eighth decade of life.

SKINNY

He darts about, alert and spry,
With warming smile and bird-bright eye.
Two things gigantic in the little chap—

* * *

Rumor has it that popular Frank Briggs and his pretty Titian-haired Leona are about to leave Santa Ana for greener pastures. They'll be sorely missed.

The same is true of genial Jerry (Rolla jr.) Hays and his little Aline. They sold their Santiago street house this week, and are going to move to Los Angeles.

* * *

Added another cutey to my collection of interesting names this week. It's Miss Virginia Riehl—and because of the spelling, it's only when you say it aloud that it has a double connotation.

* * *

Any further additions will be gratefully received and filed away.

* * *

Who was the dignified young man-about-town referred to when a certain matron pointed him out at a recent dance and said "Why—what's that good-looking Little Boy doing here?"

* * *

That's all for this Saturday—see you next week, and in between on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday at half past eleven—tune in and chat awhile!

BETTY GUILD.

One Hundred Present At Ceremony

Nearly 100 guests witnessed the marriage rites that last night made Miss Marie Elizabeth Woods the bride of Richard Peter Matthews. The wedding was performed in a setting of golden chrysanthemums and lacy maidenhair fern, the young couple standing beneath a blossom-laden archway that had been erected in the spacious living room of the bride's aunt, Mrs. A. A. Maddox.

Miss Woods wore a lovely frock of white georgette with fingertip veil and bouquet of white sweet peas. She was attended by Miss Ethel Knox, wearing a formal frock of pineapple chiffon over pink. Harold Soucie served as best man, and the Rev. Thomas Woods of Tulare, uncle of the bride, performed the ceremony.

The same lovely yellow flowers decorated the entire house, where wedding cake and refreshments were served later at the informal reception that followed.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben L. Woods, and the groom, son of Mrs. C. A. Plummer, both attended Santa Ana schools. After a honeymoon in the south, they will make their home in Orange.

MILLAY VOLUME REVIEWED FOR SECTION

A delightful review of Edna St. Vincent Millay's "Conversation at Midnight" was presented to members of Ebell's Modern Literature section yesterday when they met at the home of Mrs. Dexter Ball. Mrs. Robert Northcross was the reviewer.

Hostesses with Mrs. Ball were Mrs. John Ball, Mrs. C. M. Featherly, and Mrs. Lloyd Chenoweth. They prepared an unusually lovely table for tea, centered with a miniature Thanksgiving scene. Presiding over the tea urns were Mrs. Clarence Gustlin and Mrs. Hugh J. Lowe.

Present were a guest, Mrs. Arthur Smith, and the Mesdames Harold Segerstrom, Earl Abbey, Joe Daniger, George Dunton, Clarence Gustlin, Merrill Hollingsworth, Hugh J. Lowe, E. T. McFadden, Herbert Miller, Harold Nelson, Hugh Plumb, Paul Ragan, Stanley Reinhaus, K. H. Sutherland, M. K. Tedstrom, M. B. Wellington, and Dr. Hester Olewiler.

SECTIONS MEET AT CONKLIN, SCRIPPS HOMES

Junior Ebell First and Second Book Review sections will hold their monthly meetings Tuesday evening.

The former group will convene at the home of Mrs. John Scripps, with Mrs. Chester Horton and Mrs. Robert Guild as co-hostesses. No formal program has been planned but members will work on the Christmas play that the group has planned.

The Second section will meet at the home of Mrs. Roscoe Conklin, 2457 Heliotrope drive. Mrs. Merritt White will review a group of books, and co-hostesses will be Mrs. Jack Hannah, Mrs. Don Park, Mrs. John Taylor, and Miss Ruth Bradley.

ST. PETER'S WOMEN MEET

Ladies' Aid and Missionary society of St. Peter's Lutheran church met this week with Mrs. Lydia Yetmar presiding. Mrs. Helen Fisher conducted devotionals, and Mrs. Jacob Bergsetter gave the missionary lesson.

An interesting article was read by Mrs. Minnie Jones and Mrs. Guy Koons presented a playlet.

Sunday, Nov. 21, was named as the date for the group's thankoffering program.

THREE TABLES ARE IN PLAY

The Irvine ranch home of Mrs. Minta Knoche was setting yesterday for an intimate little party sponsored by the Ways and Means section of the Woman's club.

Co-hostesses in serving a delicious tamale luncheon were Mrs. S. M. Matthews and Mrs. Jennie Stone. Others present were the Mesdames L. E. Tarbox, G. N. Coon, C. R. Walter, George Wright, Dora Warner, W. O. Wells, James Workman, R. N. Wimbush and R. E. McBurney.

The Harold Hunnicutts are honeymooning this week after their wedding last Saturday. The pretty bride is the former Miss BeEvelyn Harmon, daughter of the O. A. Harmons.

Local Couple Tell News Of Troth

When a group of friends gathered in the W. D. Miller home, 520 West Santa Clara street, last night for an evening of bridge, they were suddenly appraised of the coming wedding date of Mrs. Edna Bichan and Louis Davis, popular Santa Anans. Tallies for the card games carried small pictures of the bride and groom-to-be with the inscription, "Edna and Louis, Christmas."

Mrs. Miller had decorated her home with quantities of beautiful chrysanthemums in various shades, while baskets of red berries in clever arrangements added to the general effect. A miniature bride and groom carried out a bridal motif centering the small tables where appropriate refreshments were served.

Prizes for the evening of bridge were awarded to Mrs. Al Schroeder and Mrs. Roland Flaherty for women's high and consolation scores, to Max Cory and Louis Davis for similar scores among the men.

Mrs. Bichan is associated with the Orange County Production Credit office, while Louis Davis is associated with the De Soto agency. Following the nuptials, the couple will take a honeymoon trip to Oregon, where they will visit with the bride-elect's mother during the holidays.

Those who gathered in the Miller home to hear the romantic news and to wish the couple well were Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Bortz, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wahlberg, Mr. and Mrs. Max Cory, Mr. and Mrs. Al Schroeder, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Guthrie, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Flaherty, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Crane, Mrs. Edna Bichan, Miss Francis Liles, Louis Davis, J. W. Crill, and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Miller.

CLUB MEETS AT HOME OF MRS. BALL

Mrs. M. W. Ball extended the hospitality of her home one afternoon this week to members of the S.E.A. club, who were entertained by a hostess committee composed of Mrs. C. A. Nelson, Mrs. R. E. Hughes, and Mrs. A. C. W. Stokes.

A Thanksgiving motif was carried out at the small tables where dessert was served, and later contract occupied the afternoon. High score prizes went to Mrs. E. A. B. Smith and Mrs. H. T. Maneri, while a traveling prize and consolation award went to Mrs. L. C. Faust and Mrs. A. B. Mueller.

The group will meet Dec. 8 at the home of Mrs. H. T. Maneri, 1511 Louise street, at which time Mrs. H. C. Oliver and Mrs. A. T. Philleo will be co-hostesses. Members are to bring toys to be wrapped for Christmas gifts.

Present at the November affair were the Mesdames L. C. Faust, G. W. Serr, E. A. B. Smith, K. H. Stewart, C. A. Sackerson, H. H. Hilgers, H. T. Maneri, M. W. Ball, A. B. Mueller, O. K. Sutliffe, Otis K. Anderson, D. H. Campbell, H. C. Oliver, F. C. Campbell, and J. C. Hart.

U.D.C. THURSDAY

United Daughters of the Confederacy will meet next Thursday at 2 p. m. at the Anaheim home of Mrs. Jessie Luchsinger on Brookhurst street. Mrs. S. P. Harriss will present an historical program.

Four Added To Bridge Section

Ebell's newly-organized Contract section welcomed four new members to its order yesterday afternoon when it met at the clubhouse for dessert and instruction from Mrs. Nelle M. Hunt. Introduced by Mrs. S. A. Jones, leader, were Mrs. Cood Adams, Mrs. J. B. Kester, Mrs C. A. Westgate, and Mrs. Maggie Mae Reed.

Hostesses at the pleasant affair were Mrs. Charles Bowman, Mrs. J. L. McBride, and Mrs. F. A. Burkett, and sustitutes for the day were Mrs. D. A. Harwood, Mrs. William Armstrong and Mrs. H. L. Wakeham.

Plans were made for a Christmas party next month, at which half the membership will entertain the other half. There will be a gift exchange.

Present yesterday were the Mesdames S. A. Jones, F. E. Moore, J. C. Burke, W. L. Duggan, A. Thorndike, J. L. McBride, Bessie Mize, W. F. Waddell, Clyde A. Bach, W. W. Kays, J. L. Marshall, Charles Bowman, L. E. Allen, S. A. Moore, F. A. Burkett, W E. Dixon, John Harrison, J. B. Kester, C. A. Westgate, Cood Adams, and M. M. Reed.

CHURCH GROUP MEETS IN COUNTRY HOME

Members of the Frances de Pauw Society of the Women's home Missionary group of the First Methodist church met Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Frank Hildebrand, at the corner of Nutwood and Ball road.

The society, which devotes its time to benefits for the Frances de Pauw school for Spanish girls in Hollywood, was led in the business session by Mrs. H. I. Tway. Mrs. W. L. Miller led devotionals. The group sewed on quilts for the home during the afternoon, and brought gifts for the Christmas box for the home.

Late in the afternoon, Mrs. Hildebrand served tea to her guests from a prettily-appointed table. Those present were Mrs. J. Estes, Mrs. S. M. Davis, Mrs. C. D. Hall, Mrs. H. C. Jeffrey, Mrs. H. Guthrie, Mrs. W. A. Taylor, Mrs. J. W. Straight, Mrs. J. W. McCormac, Mrs. W. L. Miller, Mrs. E. R. Carhart, Mrs. Stonebarger, Mrs. McQuillen, Mrs. Leo Meyers, Mrs. J. Flack, Mrs. G. B. Lane, Miss Blanche Collings, Mrs. Irons, and Mrs. N. Irwin.

YOUNGSTER HAS BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

Master Jerry Aunger's third birthday anniversary yesterday was a particularly happy event because his mother, Mrs. Ray Aunger, invited a group of little friends and their mothers in to help celebrate with a party.

Games of all sorts followed the opening of gifts, and the day was climaxed with the serving of birthday refreshments, including a beautiful cake with three candles.

Present to enjoy the affair were Mrs. Claude Knox and Dale, Mrs. Cecil Suddaby and Patty, Mrs. Marshall Burke and Bobbie, Mrs. Walter Perozzi and Norman, and Evelyn and June Williams. Mrs. Aunger was assisted during the day by Mrs. Harry Griffith and by her sister, Miss Josephine Roy.

CLUB MEETS IN TUSTIN

Mrs. Ida Hickman of Tustin entertained her five hundred club yesterday, with vivid Mexican sunflowers brightening her living-room. Awards went to Mrs. Bess McDonald, Mrs. Oscar Carothers, and Mrs. F. W. Eddy.

Guests were Mrs. Georgia Mills, Mrs. F. W. Eddy, Mrs. Mollie Ballard, Mrs. Maude Swarthout, Mrs. Inez Ivins, Mrs. Amy McDonnell, Mrs. Bess McDonald, Mrs. Oscar Carothers, Mrs. Jennie Silkwood of Whittier, Mrs. Frances Bennett of El Toro, and Mrs. Birdie Mills of Garden Grove.

SPURGEONS ARE SUPPER HOSTS

The pleasant custom of getting together each week before the junior college football games and enjoying buffet suppers has been much in vogue this fall with one small group.

This Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. Will Spurgeon entertained in their home on North Main street before the Santa Ana-Citrus game. Their guests were Mr. and Mrs. Alan Revill, Col. and Mrs. M. B. Wellington, Mr. and Mrs. Loyal King, Mr. and Mrs. David Howell, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Glenn, Mrs. L. S. Smith, Mrs. Harvey Smith, and D. K. Hammond.

MRS. McILVAIN IS HOSTESS

Mrs. Alvin Nowotny and Mrs. Edith Snow were prize-winners yesterday when their bridge club met at the home of Mrs. Howard McIlvain, with luncheon preceding the contract session.

Present were the Mesdames A. N. Zerman, E. F. Museus, Anna James, Margaret Church, Bertha Berry, Alvin Nowotny, Edith Snow, and the hostess.

TAX RATES IN SHARP INCREASE

Total rate increases form $4.60 to $5.40 in real property taxes collected from Santa Anans were unveiled before the Santa Ana realty board yesterday in a "fact-finding" discussion led by County Assessor James Sleeper.

Sleeper did the unveiling by breaking down the city, county and special tax rates levied against Santa Ana real and personal property to show just where the increases occurred. The discussion highlighted yesterday's weekly board meeting in the Rossmore cafe.

TOTAL BOOST 80 CENTS

Santa Anans paid $1,073,080.43 (including a special Santa Ana boulevard tax) during 1936, boosted the ante to $1,273,551.04 this year. The total tax rate, he pointed out, was boosted 80 cents despite an increase of nearly $300,000 in the city's assessed valuation.

The city contributed $196,903.72 to the county government this year, only $148,911.24 last year. The rate was boosted from 62 cents to 81 cents.

WELFARE COSTLY

Biggest increase was for county welfare, where a 13½ cent rate in 1936 was jumped to 30 cents this year. The 1936 collection in Santa Ana alone amounted to $32,424.22 for county welfare, compared with $72,927.30 this year.

Sleeper's breakdown on the amount Santa Ana contributed to the county also showed an increase from 17 cents to 24½ cents in the general fund rate, boosting collections from $40,830.50 last year to $59,557.30 this year. The salary, health, hospital, interest and sinking fund, advertising and park fund rates were decreased slightly.

Most salient increase in special tax rates for Santa Anans was the boost from $1.74 to $2.17 in school district assessments. This increase produced a revenue increase from $417,912.16 to $527,507.47.

TAX PAYERS EXTRAVAGANT

City government was up from $1.50 to $1.59 (or $360,269.10, boosted to $386,514.69).

"The only way to reduce taxes," Sleeper concluded, "is for the public to let up a little on the things it demands of its governmental agencies. Taxpayers are getting their money's worth, but their wants are becoming more and more extravagant."

PAIR ARRAIGNED

Elvis Eaton and Kenneth Wilmouth, charged with burglary of the Utt Juice company at Tustin Nov. 3, were arraigned before Superior Judge James L. Allen today. George Gobar was appointed attorney.

SOUTHEAST SECTION

Members of the Southeast section of the Ladies Aid from the First Presbyterian church will hold their regular meeting Thursday, Nov. 18, at 2 p. m. in the home of Mrs. E. C. McKinstry, 705 Hickory street.

Couple Observes Silver Wedding

Friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Hart, of Orange, met at their home, 705 East Chapman avenue, to congratulate the couple on their silver wedding anniversary Thursday night.

Presentation of a large silver platter to the Harts, a wedding gift from those assembled in their honor, was made by Mrs. Donald S. Smiley. The congratulatory party was arranged by Mrs. Smiley, Mrs. Lucien C. Flippen and Mrs. T. H. Elijah, girlhood friends of Mrs. Hart, assisted by Mrs. Frank Fiske.

Three of the Harts' five children participated in the festivities, Mrs. Ronald Fairbairn of Glendale, Rosemary Hart and David Hart attending the party. Two sons, Bill, jr., and Tommy, both students at the California agricultural college at Davis, were unable to attend.

A program of instrumental and vocal music highlighted the entertainment. Edward Burns, Santa Ana cellist, played three numbers accompanied by Earl Fraser, Santa Ana composer.

Several vocal solos were offered by Travis Flippen and Miss Rosemary Hart. Mr. Fraser accompanied Miss Hart, and Mrs. Victor DuPont Rees, accompanied Mr. Flippen. Later in the evening, Victor DuPont Rees, Mrs. Hart and Mr. Fairbairn presented an impromptu musical program.

About Folks

Ross H. White, jr., student at Fresno State college, returned to Fresno yesterday after a few days visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ross H. White, 210 South Broadway.

The Rev. Alice Ann Parham, copastor of the local Foursquare church, left yesterday for Kansas City for a two weeks vacation and a special evangelistic tour. She is accompanied on the tour by Miss Mabel Sexon in Kansas.

Mrs. Maude Swarthout has moved from 796 South Main street to 1239 South Ross street. Her house guests for the winter are Mr. and Mrs. Chesley Landers of Huron, S. D.

Mrs. Helen B. Heil and Mrs. E. S. Tradewell spent a day this week visiting Mrs. George Crookshank (Helen Heil) at Downey, and later dined at the Berrydale ranch.

Mrs. J. R. Stephens, 2454 Riverside Drive, who has been confined to her home by a sprained ankle, is able to be out again.

Mrs. Margaret Hill, confined for several weeks at St. Joseph's hospital with a broken hip, has returned to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Lewis, 1916 North Flower street.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. McIlveen, 911 North Olive street, had as house guests this week Mr. and Mrs. George Smith of San Gabriel and Miss Alice Dunn of Long Beach.

Fireside Chat Sunday Eve

By DAVE DEIHL

Dave Deihl

• All three national networks will feature the nation-wide and tenth "fireside chat" of the nation's chief executive tomorrow night at 7:30 p. m., when the President takes to the air with a talk on the forthcoming unemployment census. Speaking from the White House on the eve of the opening of a special session of congress, President Roosevelt will explain the voluntary unemployment census the government is undertaking this month. It will be heard over KVOE, KNX, KECA and KHJ.

☆ ☆ ☆

• On Monday morning the Mutual microphones will be strategically placed in the senate and house of representatives to bring listeners from coast-to-coast the opening ceremonies of the special session of congress, which convenes in Washington at that time. KVOE will broadcast the activities from both floors and other vantage points from 9 to 9:30 a. m.

☆ ☆ ☆

• Sunday never fails to produce a varied and extensive list of programs dedicated to good music. This week will be no exception. Walter Gieseking, distinguished French-born German pianist, will be the soloist, playing Rachmaninoff's Second Concerto in C minor, when John Barbirolli directs the Philharmonic-Symphony in its concert over KNX from noon to 2 p. m. tomorrow. Another pianist, Olga Samaroff Stokowski, will be guest soloist with the Ford Sunday Symphony and chorus when it is heard later in the day at 6 p. m. over the same station. Three new stars will receive auditions over the "Metropolitan Opera Auditions of the Air" over KECA at 2 p. m. They are: Lilian Knowles, contralto; Kathleen Kirsting, soprano; and Harold Haugh, tenor. Marion Talley will sing over KFI at 2 tomorrow in her weekly broadcast over NBC. The General Motors concert will be aired over KECA at 5, and Jeanette McDonald will conduct her regular Sunday afternoon "Open House" over KNX at 4 p. m.

• When "Dr. Christian of River's End" was first discussed with the Hersholts (Jean and his wife), they liked the idea, but Jean suggested jokingly that they'd have to try it on the dog—a favorite chow. The dog, he said, had remarkable judgment in picking out people. A week later, advertising executives returned to read the script. It went along fine for a few minutes, but the dog began to bark. The executives looked at the dog, who looked very much like he was turning his nose up. Another minute of reading, another minute of barking. It looked bad for the script, until Hersholt discovered a cigarette smoldering on the floor! . . . You can hear the program at 2:30 tomorrow afternoon over KNX.

• Don Lee's contribution to the nationwide Mutual network tonight at 7 o'clock will be another concert by the celebrated Hancock String Ensemble, directed by Capt. G. Allen Hancock, noted patron of arts, over KVOE. Featuring the lovely voice of Isla Detter and her two solos, "To the Children" (Rachmaninoff) and "The Little Betrothed" (Warren), other selections by the ensemble will include Staub's "Sous Bois" and "Coronado Tango" by Levy.

☆ ☆ ☆

• Conrad Nagel, director of the Silver Theater dramatic series, has decided to present "Honesty's Policy," starring Brian Aherne and Jane Wyatt, in two installments instead of one. The Faith Baldwin story, originally scheduled for a complete performance on November 7, will therefore, be concluded on the program over KNX tomorrow at 2 p. m.

☆ ☆ ☆

• Jack Haley isn't superstitious, he wants it known, as he prepares for his Log Cabin Jamboree tonight at 9:30 over KFI. True, he carries a rabbit's foot and a miniature horseshoe in his pocket but that's merely "to placate the others in the cast," he explains.

☆ ☆ ☆

• The Sunday football game between St. Mary and Santa Clara will be brought to the radio audience over KEHE and KFWB beginning at 2 p. m. tomorrow.

☆ ☆ ☆

• On a program designed particularly to appeal to lovers of English and Continental music, the 350 voices of the Los Angeles Civic Choir will be heard nationwide over the Mutual network and KVOE tonight at 6 o'clock. Under the direction of J. Arthur Lewis, the distinctly Continental flavor of the concert will be emphasized by Jenneth Lindquist's solo, "Song of the Open Road."

☆ ☆ ☆

• In New York there was a little old lady of 93 years, who carried $900,000 around in her handbag, and no one knew why. When the chamber maid would come to clean up the room she would often find the floor covered with $500 bills. Tales like this will be the subject of John Nesbitt's "Passing Parade," heard on KVOE tomorrow night at 9:15.

☆ ☆ ☆

• The "West Coast Church of the Air" will present Episcopalian services conducted by the Very Rev. Charles E. McAllister, dean of the Cathedral of St. John the Evangelist in Spokane, Washington, over KNX tomorrow morning at 8.

MIDNIGHT

KFI, Program of Week
KNX, Kent's Orch.

KVOE

Notes of interest for the local audience. These program notes are in addition to the Mutual Network Features over KVOE commented on above in Dave Deihl's Column.

Remember The Journal broadcasts: News every day at 8:30 a. m.; 12:30, 4:30, 9:00 p. m.; Chat Awhile With Betty—Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, 11:30 a. m.

The Johnson Family, formerly heard over KVOE at 2:30 p. m. Monday through Friday, will be aired beginning Monday at 2 o'clock each afternoon. This favorite program is generally credited with having as large a nation-wide audience as the famed Amos 'n Andy.

• • •

Frederick Stark's contribution to Sunday's schedule of better music will be presented in a half-hour "Evening Promenade" on KVOE tomorrow evening at 5:30.

Leopold Godowski's "Whirling Dervishes" will high-light the evening concert which will also include the overture to the opera "Oberon," "Rondino on Theme," by Kreisler, and "In the Silence of the Night."

• • •

Truly delightful are the "American Radio Warblers," Sunday mornings at 8:45 on KVOE. The songsters are a large group of canary birds that really sing, accompanied by the pipe organ. Legend has it that a canary bird never sings an inharmonious note.

• • •

"What shall I be when I grow up?" This often-asked question among youth finds admirable and practical answers in "The Right Job" broadcasts by KVOE Sunday mornings at 11 o'clock, via Mutual facilities. Dr. Shirley A. Hamrin of Northwestern university analyzes the abilities and qualifications of future world leaders.

• • •

Straight from their jobs on the eastern "CR Ranch," Carson Robinson's Buckaroos head for the Mutual microphones three times each week to maintain their reputations of "radio's favorite singers of famous western songs." No mere "radio cowboys" are Carson's gang, but hard-working, range-riding cow-punchers, whose authentic songs are heard over the KVOE-Don Lee network each Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 10:15 a. m.

• • •

An hour's entertainment with Horace Heidt and his orchestra will be provided by KVOE and the Mutual-Don Lee broadcasting system tonight at 8 o'clock. Heidt's popularity is due to his informal and interesting interviews of those who dance to his excellent rhythm at New York's Biltmore Hotel. Interest is heightened because of the fact that his interviewees hail from far and wide.

• • •

"Dick Tracy," two-gun detective character so familiar to the youth of America,—known in real life as Ralph Bird—will do a bit of super-sleuthing as George Jessel's guest on "Thirty Minutes in Hollywood," presented nationwide over the Mutual network and on KVOE tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Jessel will also introduce as his special guests the celebrated St. Brendan's Choristers, twenty boys from eight to fourteen years of age. The regular members of Jessel's cast, including Norma Talmadge, young Josephine Starr, soloist, and Tommy Tucker's orchtra, will all return for their weekly contribution to "Thirty Minutes in Hollywood."

Female Bridge Addicts Worry Man Who Has Just Returned From Europe

The female bridge addict is causing a great deal of worry to one of our contributors today, who can't quite understand their attitude. What, he asks, is the idea of sitting around little tables frowning over bits of pasteboard with numbers on them? Especially when they have all sports and great out-of-doors offered here in Southern California.

Dear Mary Stoddard: Ever since my return to the United States after five years of working in Europe, something has been bothering me and perhaps you or some of your readers can answer me.

What is it that American women find so attractive in banding together in the afternoons playing bridge and eating terrible things, with God's great outdoors to play in? I find group after group sitting indoors these lovely fall days, tensely serious over doubles and redoubles.

I've been particularly interested in the situation, since I've known of more than a dozen husbands coming home to vacant homes and canned dinners, children playing in streets, while women are playing bridge or having teas. Still I haven't found out what the attraction is, certainly not the monetary value, or the love of women for women. All I can find is that they are bored both with themselves and their homes. Can any

WAR LETTERS TO BE READ

Parts of four letters written by a Southern California boy killed in action in the Spanish war will form the basis for a special Armistice day observance in the Unitarian church, Eighth and Bush streets, at 11 a. m. tomorrow.

The letters, written to the Rev. Julia N. Budlong, vividly describe the horrors of actual campaigning during the war. As part of the service, Paul Veley will read the Armistice Day poem, "The Cold Rain Falls."

P.-T. A. Chorus On Chapel Program

The La Mosk chorus, composed of singers recruited from the P.-T. A. organizations of northern Orange county, will present a Musical Memory Hour program in Melrose Abbey chapel, Sunday afternoon, November 14, at 3:00 o'clock.

The chorus is under the direction of Mrs. Ernest H. Elsner, of Santa Ana, who has chosen for her program the following selections: "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes," (Arr. by Wilson); "Shadows," (Wilson); "Sweet and Low," (Arr. by Wilson); "My Task," (Ashford); "Sundown," (Arr. by Wilson); "Londonderry Air" and "Cradle Song," (Brahms).

David Craighead, Melrose Abbey organist, will play three organ solos; "Tanhauser March," (Wagner); "The Rosary," (Nevin); "Berceuse," (Spinney).

Anti-Saloon Leader

George Y. Hammond, above, state superintendent of the California State Anti-Saloon league, will speak at 11 a. m. tomorrow in the Christian and Missionary Alliance church, South Main and Bishop streets, addressing the congregation on "the New Approach to the Liquor Question." The public has been invited to the special services.

CHURCHES TO HONOR GIRLS

Three special rites will characterize services in Santa Ana churches tomorrow, with a Girl Reserve recognition program in the First Christian church at 4 p. m. and Girl Scout services in the First Baptist church at 9:30 a. m.

The last of the group will be an Armistice day observance in the Episcopal Church of the Messiah at 9:30 a. m. which will be attended by members of the Canadian Legion and auxiliary and all who served under the British flag in the World war.

Girl Reserves will officially open their week of prayer and world fellowship with their rites in the Christian church. Eugenia Bond, president of the inter-club council, will conduct the candle-lighting ceremony, feature of the ritual David Craighead will be organist for the ceremony, and the Rev. W. S. Buchanan will deliver the invocation.

Miss Melva Burke will speak on "What It Means to Be a Girl Reserve," and the "Meaning of the Girl Reserve Symbol" will be discussed by Margaret Maroney. Beatrice Holman, Anita Wasson and Anita Potter, officers of the Santa Ana Girl Reserve clubs, will form the Girl Reserve symbol. Completing the program, the association chorus under the direction of Clara Spelman will sing the code song and the quest song.

During the remainder of the week the Y.W.C.A. will honor various parts of the world, including Africa on Monday, America on Tuesday, Asia on Wednesday, Australia on Thursday, Northern Europe on Friday, and Central and Southern Europe on Saturday.

"When Girls Are Good Scouts" will be the sermon topic for the Rev. Harry Evan Owings, in the First Baptist church for the Girl Scout service. A solo, "The Girl Scout Hymn," will be sung by Katherine Stockton, accompanied by Marilynn Munselle. The anthem will be "Lo, a Voice to Heaven Sounding" by Bortniansky. Miss Margaret Wolf, new Girl Scout director, will make her first official talk at this service.

D. A. V.'s to Attend District Meeting

A delegation from Jack Fisher chapter, D. A. V., will attend the session in the California hotel, San Bernardino, beginning with luncheon at 12:30 p. m. A business meeting will follow at 1:30 o'clock.

600 Cars Damaged By Rain of Acid

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Damage that "may total thousands of dollars" was done by the "acid rain" which followed a smoke screen laid over the city last Wednesday by 12 United States army planes, S. H. Bucholtz, superintendent of the fire companies' adjustment bureau, said today.

Bucholtz, named head of the committee to handle damage cases by insurance companies, said more than 600 persons have reported their automobiles damaged. In many cases, he said, it will be necessary to repaint automobiles.

Florida has a coast line of 3751 miles.

MARY HAMPTON'S Column

At this time of year this far-sighted world makes sports clothes primarily for lucky mortals who betake themselves to tropical climes and play. But after all, the rest of us every-day mortals do enjoy knowing what is going on! And what is more, in Southern California they are a possibility for everybody. Besides—Palm Springs has become more of a mid-winter Mecca these days than real estated Florida used to be.

So some new things to keep your eye on for any time now from next week until next summer are:

More and more Dirndl skirts in sports frocks as well as beach dresses. Those, of course, are the bulky, short, full-skirted affairs which were inspired directly by peasant frocks of Europe.

One clever designer calls hers the Santa Barbara fiesta frocks—and combines peasant lines with old Spanish smockings and embroideries with most fetching results. These become almost dressy sports frocks such as might lunch at country clubs or be at home on a sunny afternoon (tennis courts in sight).

Lovely full-length coats with short sleeves and wide shoulders and either boxy or fitted lines like everybody wants—only made out of white sharkskin or any of the lineny-crash syntheticy new materials which are the best ever yet! Saw a stunning coachman's model whose lapels either buttoned double-breasted fashion—or folded back and buttoned like wide revers.

Ye good old English blazer revived again! With so much interest in British designing and living anyway, lately, how could everybody miss the tremendously practical blazer? Of course it is loudly colored, and in many cases striped. But what appeals to me is that, providing you do tuck it into your suitcase for the weekend, it goes with the white tennis shorts—or with the lounging slacks—or with a trim white sports frock equally well!

And I must tell you about Viola Dimmitt's scarf—it is all autographed this way and that by movie stars! Who wouldn't be intriqued! And, ah—watch for the early colors—lovelier than ever, and so tremendously subtle.

Dear Katie: Don't let your anticipation lead you into the wrong costume for this wonderful date. After all, when a girl is overdressed it always embarrasses the man and makes her unpleasantly conspicuous so that she cannot be naturally charming. You will find most women wearing dark dressy afternoon frocks to the theater rather than formal clothes. And those who do come trailing in arrive in important motors and belong to parties usually. I'd concentrate on looking chic and pretty—but stick to the afternoon frock. Find some smart little dark colored taffeta or velvet such as I have been writing about lately—get a very dressy, perky wee dinner hat—trick slippers—sparkly clip, and you will be perfect.

FATHERS COOK SONS' DINNER

Monday evening, Nov. 15, has been set for the annual Father and Son banquet at the United Brethren church, West Third and Shelton streets, given under the auspices of the Otterbein Brotherhood and sponsored by the men of the church. The dinner will begin at 6:30 p. m.

The banquet is to be prepared, cooked and served by the men, with a committee, consisting of Henry Sands, Charles Imm, and Melvin McNeal, in charge of arrangements. Another committee, composed of William Hart, Royal Gammell and O. C. Dennie, is in charge of finances.

Talks will be given by Chief of Police Floyd W. Howard and the Rev. Frank A. C. Fairley.

SANTA ANA CHURCHES WELCOME YOU

SERMONETTE

(ON THIS WEEK'S CHURCH SCHOOL LESSON)

By Glenn L. Thorne

In our studies of the various phases of the Christian life, we are to discuss briefly this week the Christian minister. Of course in the larger sense of the word, we are all ministers for Him, but for today let us confine ourselves to the more strict use of the word.

There are many callings open to one, such as medicine, law, artistry, writing, etc., but the noblest and highest calling given to man is the preaching of the gospel of Christ. Men may trifle with other professions, neglect them and perhaps cast them aside entirely, but not so with the call to the ministry—for anyone who has such a call and casts it lightly aside is casting aside one of the most prized callings which one might have. There are those who scoff outwardly at thoughts of even being a minister, but who has not secretly envied and wished they might been such a man as some great minister whom they have heard? Who is there who ever heard Gypsy Smith, Bud Robinson, a Henry Clay Morrison, and has not wished they might be one of them?

Sometimes people, especially young people, wonder just why their minister follows his certain course. But usually they are following their leader God. as directed in His Book. Paul, in his epistles to Timothy who was in charge of the church at Ephesus, laid down some of the foundation and most valuable instructions for pastoral work. He gives the training or background of a good minister. Also some of the things a minister should avoid are listed as well as things a minister must do and teach.

A minister is sent by someone and sent to someone. He must be in the good graces of Him who sent him and also acceptable with those to whom he is sent. This is true whether the minister in question be a representative of a government in some foreign country or whether he be a minister of the gospel of Jesus Christ. Paul once called ministers of the gospel "ambassadors." This word adds dignity and responsibility to the office. An ambassador is supposed to have an extraordinary mission, be in the highest standing with his sovereign and have the most acceptable standing with the people to whom he is sent.

Paul spoke of himself and of other ministers at one time as "ourselves your servants for Jesus' sake." The minister in this sense is one who ministers helpfully to the needs of others in the name of another, the minister of Jesus Christ, serving others in His name. The leadership of the minister is a leadership of service, not of dictation. Where there is preaching it is a ministry of helpfulness. Whenever he visits in the home it is with the purpose of bringing cheer and encouragement. All of the Christian minister's efforts are a service, first of Christ and second to people.

The minister must of course serve on the Christian level and within those bounds. His is a ministry not only in guiding people toward their future destiny, but also helping in the present everyday living. This calls not alone for encouragement but occasionally for some warning. He is not a calamity howler, but the path of life is fraught with dangers and pitfalls, and he has seen more of the different sides of life which we pass unnoticed, and is able to offer valuable help.

There are those who outwardly jeer at ministers, but what would this world be without them? They have taken the lead in many reforms. They have preached against sin in high places as well as low. The forces of evil have tried to hush their mouths with money, but like Paul they have said "Thy money perish with thee."

☆ ☆ ☆

Some might despise the ministry and feel they have no need for the services of their pastor. But their lives are not yet all lived. Many people do not look "up" until they are flat on their backs. But some of us have learned to look up daily, and to really appreciate our ministers and their helpfulness. I was once laid up for eight long years. Before that I had given little thought to the more serious things of life. But during those eight years I saw life from a different angle. Our pastor proved to be my real friend, the one most interested in me outside of my own immediate family. Today, years later, he still holds the very highest regard in my thinking. He is elsewhere now, but other pastors have proved to be just as great men. Right here in Santa Ana are such men. My hat is off to the Christian ministers. Let us support them in every possible way.

KITE-FLYING PILOTS . . .

Highest possible aeronautical flight rating in the world is that of master of ocean-going flying boats. And, strange as it seems, these master pilots, regularly employed on the trans-Pacific run of Pan American Airways' Clipper ships, must perfectly pass an examination in kite-flying before they can get their rating!

No ordinary kite, the "PAA K-6" kite they fly is designed to carry aloft an emergency radio antenna when the Clipper is on the water. Never yet used on any of the larger Clippers, the special kite antenna was employed in broadcasting reports of the solar eclipse of last June from the Phoenix Islands.

Subject to international laws regulating all ocean craft, the Clipper ships carry almost identical emergency equipment to that of passenger steamers, including life rafts, fog warnings, flares, etc. At least four men of the trans-Pacific crews on all Clippers are qualified steamship pilots!

LOSES SUIT ON SALES TAX

SAN DIEGO. (AP)—C. Leon De Aryan, weekly newspaper publisher here, is loser today in his court action to have the collection of a 1 cent state sales tax on a 15 cents purchase held illegal.

Superior Judge Clarence Harden ruled that De Aryan, who lost a similar suit last year, could not as a consuming purchaser raise the issue.

The court held the tax is not a levy on the consumer but on the retailer, who may waive it if he wishes but is prohibited from advertising such a concession to buyers.

De Aryan argued the 1 cent on a 15-cent purchase amounted to more than 7 per cent, whereas the state law provides for only a 3 per cent tax on the purchase price.

GOLDEN GLOVES TOURNEY OPENS

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—First-round senior matches and second-round novice bouts kept Northern California amateur boxers battling until the early hours today in the seventh annual Golden Gloves tournament.

Survivors in the senior class were: George Cameron, Pittsburg (118 pounds); George Cirimelli, San Francisco (135 pounds); Tony Pennisi, San Francisco (147 pounds), and Marvin Baker, Monterey (160 pounds).

All bouts were three rounds long. Quarter-finals and semi-finals were set for today. Sectional finals will be held next Friday.

Truck Owner Sued For $15,000

Owner and driver of a beet truck involved in an auto accident were sued for $15,185.25 today, as J. I. Barber filed suit in superior court against German Quatacker and Arthur Magdaleno Arroyo.

Barber claims Arroyo, the truck driver, was negligent and caused the crash, at Fairview road and Edinger street near the Diamond school last Sept. 8, in which Barber was injured. The complaint was filed by Atty. Harry Westover.

Frost Broadcasts To Begin Monday

LOS ANGELES. (AP) — Winter has arrived in Southern California.

Floyd Young, government meteorologist, announced today that frost warnings will be broadcast beginning Monday over station KNX. From Monday until Nov. 30, the warnings will be on for 30 seconds at 8:15 p. m., and from Dec. 1 to Feb. 15, at 8 p. m., from Mondays to Fridays, and at 7:15 p. m., on Saturdays and Sundays.

'Spite Burning' Figure Jailed

SAN DIEGO. (AP)—Paul H. Cummings, 24, cook on the U. S. S. Dorsey, must spend a year at the county road camp and remain five years on probation for the "spite" burning of a house. Cummings, who allegedly set the building on fire because of jealousy over a woman renter, was sentenced yesterday.

MARKETS—CITRUS

Weekly Citrus Review

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—California oranges were weaker during the past week in Eastern and Middle Western auction centers. The weekly average of $3.97 was the first dip below $4.00 a box since early in March.

This week's auction average was down six cents a box of valencias, while the volume was down 62 cars to a total of 153 cars.

Lemons were also lower at a $7.19 per box auction average. Lemon volume dipped 13 cars to a total of 76.

W. C. Frackelton, general manager of the California-Arizona Orange and Grapefruit Marketing agency, announced next week's prorate as follows: 625 cars of navel oranges in interstate commerce from central California and 25 from Arizona. Intrastate prorates were given at 150 cars of navel oranges from central California.

Pacific coast citrus markets were slightly weaker on oranges and slightly stronger on lemons, the Federal-State Market News service reported today. Arrivals at Seattle, San Francisco and Los Angeles continued smaller.

The California Fruit Growers exchange reported on both the private an auction sales markets for the week as follows:

"The market on valencias held up well except on small sizes which were lower for the week. A few cars of navel oranges arrived in the market and while they were sweet and juicy, they were too pale to meet with a good reception. This week's shipments are reported to be better colored and are expected to reach between 200 and 250 cars.

"Movement for all California and Arizona shippers may reach 750 cars of navels next week.

"Florida oranges have been in very heavy supply, but their market has declined about 50 cents a box during the week.

"Florida shipped 1269 cars of oranges during the week ended Nov. 6 and estimated 100 cars for the week ending Nov. 13 and 1200 for the week ending Nov. 20, plus 50 to 100 cars of tangerines and 350 to 450 cars of grapefrpit weekly.

"There is little change in the grapefruit market and the lemon market continues strong under limited supplies."

Orange averages per box for the week, with comparative figures for last week and the corresponding weeks of 1936 and 1935 follow:

	This Week	Last Week	1936 Week	1935 Week

Pilot in Fatal Air Crash to Fly Again

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Back to the controls of a plane next Monday will go William Lewis, pilot of an airliner which crashed near here last January, killing five persons, one of them Martin Johnson the explorer.

Lewis is completely recovered from the injuries he sustained and will resume his post as army air corps lieutenant at Hamilton field.

Preps Make Football Trips Of From 800 to 1500 Miles

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—High school football teams are going places this season—literally—their intersectional games often entailing 800-mile jaunts while trips of 1500 miles are not unusual.

The schoolboys have blossomed out in satin uniforms, booked harder schedules and are putting on shows that rival collegiate pageantry. Growing crowds are responsible.

Miami Edison travels to Marblehead, Mass., Dec. 4 and entertains a New Brunswick, N. J., team here Dec. 17.

Miami High, which has played teams from 15 states in the last nine years, will be host to Shenandoah, Iowa, Nov. 19.

Guarantees to visiting teams on the long trips usually range from $800 to $1200. The Clearwater team cleared more than $2000 above expenses on its eastern journey.

Sometimes the guarantees are on a sliding scale. Miami High and Shenandoah agreed, for instance, that a $1000 guarantee would be paid if the Iowans came here unbeaten. For every game Shenandoah lost, $100 was to be lopped off. Shenandoah won its 18th straight game last Saturday.

Each Christmas Day Miami stages what is considered the nation's classic high school game, with the city champion inviting an outstanding northern eleven. Since 1929 teams from Salem, Mass., Dayton, Ohio, Chicago, Toledo, Ohio, Syracuse, N. Y., Pittsburgh, Elmira, N. Y., and New Britain, Conn., have played here.

Your Child and the Quints

Many an Orange county mother, worrying about where the next pair of shoes, a music or art lesson, perhaps, or even a bottle of milk for her child was coming from, may have suffered a twinge of envy as she read about the care that is lavished on the Dionne quintuplets.

For the famous five have everything — constant expert medical care and supervision, nurses, dieticians, toys, games, lessons and all the other services and attentions that an adoring civilization can heap up around them.

Everything, that is, except one great essential to childhood's proper development. This is "outside contacts," in which term will have to be included, strangely enough, the mother's own care. Would the Orange county mother, for all the harassments and worries she undergoes, consent to trading situations? Along this line, we have gathered four views of experts which should shed some light on the question, as follows:

"The only way the quintuplets can learn to live is by mixing with others."—Dr. Alice Keliher, chairman of the commission on human relations of the Progressive Education association.

"The quintuplets face a precarious and perhaps disastrous future if they continue to be exhibited to the public." — Dr. Charles Gilmore Kerley, New York pediatrician.

So it would seem that, while each little Dionne may be more famous and wealthy and perhaps happy NOW, that the youngster brought up in the home where struggles are faced and the hurly-burly of daily life is encountered may make up for it all later on.

An Oakland man lost $100 matching coins with strangers here. The infallible law of supply and demand. He had it; they needed it.

Speaking of Big Business

What a gigantic business has been developed by our California-Arizona citrus industry can perhaps best be glimpsed from the fact that though, this past season, the f.o.b. returns reached the huge total of $102,828,425, the freeze ruined an additional 35,000 carloads of fruit!

More than a hundred million dollars' worth of oranges, lemons and grapefruit sold, and 700 50-car trainloads destroyed! Only a Paul Bunyan enterprise can talk in such figures.

The annual report of the California Fruit Growers Exchange shows the interesting economic fact that, though the freeze cut volume shipments 23.7 per cent over the previous season, the return in dollars to the growers was only 2.7 less. The severe pinch came, of course, on individual growers who happened to own groves in spots where the frost was most destructive. The industry as a whole was little hurt.

It's an ever-growing business. Thirty years of merchandising and advertising efforts have increased the lemon sales 24 per cent and orange consumption 150 per cent.

If further proof were needed that the citrus business is a right sizable enterprise, the fact that the exchange's freight and refrigeration bill for the season reached $28,799,369 ought to supply such evidence. Anybody who can hand the American railway system $29,000,000 worth of business in a year is entitled to be considered as a very special customer.

Pie a la Mode

Hollywood, it is obvious, is reverting to type. The custard pie, among the first of the stars of the cinema, is staging a comeback. The Hollywood reporters say there's a great migration of stars, directors, whole companies and producing organizations in the direction of slapstick comedy—the slapsticker, apparently, the more satisfactory.

Charlie McCarthy, it is announced, is shortly to appear with Irene Dunne, erstwhile sedate star of "Cimmaron," "The Magnificent Obsession" and other serious plays.

What a field of combinations this opens! Think of Paul Muni and the Ritz brothers! Or W. C. Fields and Greta Garbo! Or George Arliss and Donald Duck!

The prospects are, to say the least, colossal.

Anti-aircraft defense on skyscrapers is proposed. Aviation progress is so rapid it may soon be feasible to equip them with wings.

Pursuit of Bluebirds

Everyone knows of at least one family that has found the secret of happiness. And who does not know of many individuals and families that are perpetually and feverishly hunting for happiness—and never finding it?

Those family groups which seem to have found the ideal way of living do not, as a rule, have great wealth, great power or high social position. They have "enough," but no great surpluses.

There is confirmable evidence on every hand that happiness and contentment are attainable for the individual and for the family group. Those who declare happiness to be impossible on this earth look for it too far away, too high above themselves, or in a wrong direction.

When Troop Fire On Crowd

By Westbrook Pegler

To the professional military officer there is no duty more terrible than that of ordering his troops to fire on unarmed civilians, his fellow citizens, in time of insurrection. If he orders his men to shoot anyone who crosses a deadline previously made known to the crowd, the dead and wounded are likely to be more or less innocent individuals in the front rank who were shoved across the line by pressure from the rear.

They may even include women and children, for it is the studied, ruthless purpose of those who promote such disturbances to put authority on the spot and exploit the humane instincts of the soldiers for their own advantage.

If, on the other hand, the officer fails to carry out a warning to shoot those who cross the line, the mob begins to doubt that he will fire at all, and the front ranks press closer and closer to the soldiers.

CASUALTIES WORSE

If, finally, they are permitted to come close enough to grab the men's rifles the officer has lost the initiative and must then be responsible for anything that happens in a general rough-and-tumble. In this event the casualties are likely to be much worse than they would have been if he had made good his threat in the first place.

The theory of the deadline is that although it necessitates some bloodshed, it is actually humane and economical. The officer has a duty to his troops not to expose them to needless casualties by irresolution and must remember also that if he falters in a crisis he betrays the authority which he is supposed to personify and uphold.

But he is damned if he does and damned if he doesn't, and all officers dread the thought of such duty. The propaganda power of a half-dozen civilians, including, perhaps, a woman or a child, exceeds that of a hundred soldiers beaten to death in a fight which could have been averted, and the officer though he might escape hanging, would go down in history as a monster. Nevertheless, he has no option to refuse duty or perform it half-heartedly because of personal reluctance. The commander-in-chief, however, passes the buck in putting it up to him to decide the precise time to use force and how much force to use. The commander-in-chief is a politician. If the officer permits the situation to get away from him and result in a greater disturbance requiring greater force, there again he is to blame.

GUNS UNLOADED

Some militia commanders send their men out for duty in civilian disorders without ammunition, and for the sake of their popularity in the community to let the fact be known. This is dangerous, because the mob leaders, who usually lead from the rear, will assure the crowd that there is nothing to fear from the rifles and that, anyway, the soldiers are their own kind of people and would shoot over their heads even if they did have ammunition.

But professional officers, trained to use military force if necessary, disagree with the practice of exposing their soldiers to attacks inspired by the knowledge that the rifles are unloaded or the understanding that the fire will amount to nothing more than noise. The theory here is that troops should be armed to fight if necessary and should not be invoked at all unless the situation was passed beyond the control of the civil authorities. Then, usually, the trouble can be subdued by the presence of armed men and the frank understanding that they will shoot to kill if martial law is challenged.

A MODERN TENDENCY

This is a shocking topic, to be sure, but one which constitutes an actual professional problem of the soldier, the more unpleasant in the last few years because of the tendency of state governors to call out the militia in trivial causes. Huey Long called out the troops to seize election records in a fight which was strictly political and had the militia under arms half a dozen times under conditions in which shooting would have constituted political massacre. A governor of Colorado used the militia to repel immigration of itinerant beetfield hands whose only offense was a desire to engage in backbreaking toil at starvation wages. And, more recently, in Rhode Island, Governor Quinn used the militia to close a race track because the manager of the track had called him a liar in print.

There was nothing in any of these situations which would have justified military action, which is to say killing, and, that being so, there was no excuse for calling out the soldiers.

IT'S ODD
But It's Science

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Editor

NEW YORK. — Scientists seeking for tailor-made air to rival nature are playing with a new toy, meta-stable-oxygen.

"This," says Dr. Robert F. James of the Westinghouse Lamp company, "is the name of a little-understood change caused by the passage through air of ultra-violet rays. The phenomenon is believed related to the process of ozone formation and is thought to impart to the air an energy state that causes a favorable physiological reaction. In other words, the something which gives a lift to the air we breathe."

Meta-stable-oxygen follows on the heels of another air state attributed to ions, electrified particles of air supposed to be most numerous out in the open.

Dr. C.-A. E. Winslow, of Yale, in a report to the American Society of Heating and Ventilating Engineers, says that Yale experiments have shown no appreciable effects of these ions on man.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

SEC's private probe of short-selling will hit big Wall Street names; Jesse Jones jumped gun on important announcements to grab publicity; Oscar Johnson sees cotton crop control made compulsory by new "KKK"; FDR only budget balancer; GOP convention "improper burial" to Borah.

WASHINGTON.—The securities and exchange commission is quietly priming its guns for a blast that will rock some of the biggest names in Wall Street.

Basis of the forthcoming barrage is a sensational report made by SEC investigators on short selling during the recent stock market crash. This survey is not the one made by the New York stock exchange on transactions in five "blue-chip" stocks, but a secret probe made by the SEC's own experts into all phases of the stock market before and during the nose dive.

It shows "bear raiding" on a large scale, with prominent business figures and brokerage firms taking a leading role. The SEC salvo is expected to be a hot rejoinder to the recent outbursts of Charles Gay, head of the New York stock exchange, and Winthrop Aldrich, president of the Chase National bank, who attacked the agency on the charge that it was stifling market operations.

* * *

THE ONLY BALANCER

Several weeks of conference with department and bureau heads on their 1938 budget requirements proved very discouraging to the President. Discussing it with Budget Director Dan Bell, he remarked:

"Dan, as far as I can see there is only one man in Washington who is really for balancing the budget."

"Who is that, Mr. President."

* * *

PUBLICITY HOUND

RFC Chairman Jesse Jones, quietly being shelved by the White House, is making a desperate last-ditch fight to keep himself in the public eye. Jesse has a burning ambition to be Democratic vice presidential candidate in 1940.

Twice in recent months he has jumped the gun on important government news releases in order to grab personal publicity for himself.

The first was the announcement of the 9-cent cotton loan. This was scheduled to come from the AAA, but an hour before it was given out, Jesse issued his own news release, thereby getting his name prominently in the story.

The second occurred the other day when the corn loan was authorized. Following an agreement between the Commodity Credit corporation, an RFC-controlled agency, and the AAA on the terms of the loan, it was decided that the formal announcement would be made at a press conference by Secretary Henry Wallace.

But an hour before he met reporters, Jesse's press bureau called them up and gave out the story.

* * *

IMPROPER BURIAL

Newsmen were questioning Senator Borah about his opposition to the plan of ex-President Hoover to convene a mid-term GOP convention.

"Do you think the Republican party is dead?" one of them asked.

* * *

CROP CONTROL THREAT

The battle between the advocates of compulsory and voluntary crop control, in the proposed new AAA legislation, is getting down to the muss-'em-up level.

In a speech in Memphis before the Tennessee Farm Bureau federation, Oscar Johnson, close lieutenant of Secretary Wallace and an ardent supporter of compulsory regulation, hurled this grim warning at the heads of his opponents:

I believe that cotton growers want acreage control of production. I don't care whether we have compulsory control or not, because if we can get 75 per cent of the cotton farmers to join, the program will become compulsory.

"The 75 per cent will not stand by and see the minority chisel. If they can't make them cooperate by legislation, there might be a K. K. K. of night riders to make them do so by force . . ."

DIPLOMATIC 'INCIDENT'

It was a hair's-breadth escape for the staid old state department, and the top-hat boys are still mopping their brows over the "incident." It happened this way:

In Secretary Hull's recent personal shake-up, Richard Southgate was stepped up from head of the protocol division to chief of the division of international conferences. One of the requisites of the slight promotion was the right to park his car two spaces nearer the entrance of the state department official parking area.

Several days after his elevation, Southgate drove into the yard to find Herbert Feis, Hull's economic adviser, parking his car in Southgate's space. Neither official said anything, merely exchanged frigid "good mornings." But when they reached their offices the fur began to fly.

Messengers scurried through the long, high-vaulted corridors, delivering hot notes of protest, phones jangled angrily and the whole department buzzed with agitation.

For a few hours it looked as if the department would be torn from top to bottom. However, the affair finally was patched up by an exchange of written apologies and a reshuffling of parking spaces.

POPULAR MECHANICS

Ambrose J. Halibut, the first man to mix Mexican jumping beans with flapjack flour so that the flapjacks will turn over by themselves, has just perfected a new kind of phonograph record. He mixes jumping beans in with the wax so that the records will turn over by themselves.

The late session of congress passed an enormous appropriations bill. It might have been even worse, but the statesmen had to knock off work to make economy speeches to the taxpayers back home.

Another old-timer is one who can remember when almost every well-to-do home had an iron deer standing on the front lawn.

The Mailbag

Public opinion, or what somebody in office imagines to be public opinion, is our ruler. If public opinion is active, the politicians and people sit up and take notice. There is a definite need for outspoken talking and thinking on public matters. Honest, intelligent fair discussion of our problems is immensely useful. So that every citizen may have his say and contribute to the formation of public opinion, The Journal invites letters to The Mailbag.

BETTING AGENCY

To the Editor: I am gratified with the publicity you have given in the matter of opposing the opening of an office in our city for the purpose of accepting wagers on horse racing. Notwithstanding the interpretation of the statues, by some legal authorities, that accepting wagers and forwarding to the racing headquarters may be legal, we hold that gambling is in violation of the fundamental principle of government and should be condemned by every citizen who has the welfare of the community at heart.

The temporary injunction, issued in favor of those desirous of operating the gambling business in our city, has placed a restraint upon our citizens to prevent the opening of an office for such purpose. The temporary injunction will come before the court on Nov. 12, and will either become a permanent injunction or it will be reversed and held against the gamblers for accepting wagers on racing. I repeat what I have said before, "The fundamental principle of government is to foster and develop an environment for the safety and welfare of society." Therefore we commend the officials of the city and county in their activity toward suppressing the effort to operate a business in violation of these principles.

Power is a dangerous virtue for any person or group of persons to have when all restraint is removed. If the temporary injunction becomes permanent it will give the gamblers a power, without restraint, that will become a dangerous virtue in our community; therefore it becomes the duty of the moral agencies to unite their combined power, morally and legally, to overthrow the evil. No program, or business, is right that does not function for the well-being of all our citizens. To permit the operation of gambling, in any form, will have a tendency to increase vice, become a reproach on our city and a serious reflection on those allowing the permit. If the injunction is made permanent by virtue of the statutes, then the odium of the business lies with the legislators who made it possible to carry on the vice.

The effect of such vice can only be measured by the number of persons who will be led into losing money in games of chance instead of using it in legitimate channels of trade, and the further tendency of destroying the usefulness of young men for positions of public and private trust.

FASCIST PLAN?

To the Editor: Much favorable publicity is being given former King Edward by Lord Rothermere's string of British newspapers; likewise, by Mr. Hearst's publications in this country.

It appears that Edward is being groomed for the billet of fascist leader of Great Britain. Unlimited free publicity is given Oswald Mosley's British Blackshirts by Lord Rothermere, and Mr. Hearst is a stanch advocate of fascism.

Baron Eugene Rothschild of Vienna, who was host to Edward after his abdication, is among those who are making every effort to fascistize the major countries of the world. Adolf Hitler, nazi leader, was host to his ex-royal highness during his visit to Germany; and if he goes to Italy, he will, no doubt, be the guest of Benito Mussolini, the fascist dictator of that country; and when Edward arrives here, if he does, it is quite likely that he will be Mr. Hearst's guest.

What do you think?

MASTERPIECE

To The Editor: Will you permit a newcomer to your city to remark on one of the most charming pictures which, to me, it affords. I refer to the giant liveoak which stands near the entrance of the First Christian Science church, and the skillful way in which the builders placed the structure so as to take fullest advantage of its beauty and its widespread shade. Almost I am persuaded to attend services in order to enjoy so grand an entry.

I'll Tell You

By BOB BURNS

I was just thinkin' today how true that old sayin' is that "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure." If you just trace your big troubles back, you'll find that they started from some little faults that coulda been cleared up in a minute if you'd just caught it in time. I had an uncle that had to go to the hospital for repairs, and when he come to, he got to meditatin' over the events that led to his bein' there. He traced it back to the time he had a bad corn that pained him, and to kill the pain he took to drink.

The drink caused him to go home and start an argument with his wife, and she come back at him with a rollin' pin and put him in the hospital. Well, sir, when my uncle got up, he went straight to a doctor and had the corn removed, and to this day they've lived a happy, peaceful life.

WHIMSIES

With O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK.—The majority of our travel remembrances are of hotels. Most of my life has been spent in them. My father was a hotel proprietor, I was once a night clerk and later a hotel press agent. To this day I annex a tingle in finding lodging in a strange inn.

On the stage—"Grand Hotel," for example—in the movies and in literature. Some of the most exciting plots have been hatched in hotels. I never register at a hotel that I do not feel that somewhere behind the scenes a lively drama is brewing.

Every 24 hours in a big city hotel there is material for a dozen newspaper columns, plots for a novel or so and the makings of a play. I recall one bit of high voltage drama at a hotel I was publicizing—and one which a humane medical examiner saved from the headlines.

She was a beautiful woman of notable ancestry who had married out of her class. To a bounder who taught her to drink and use drugs. Deserted, she came to our hotel, pistoled herself, and her hand clenched a scrawl to her husband: "I die cursing you!"

* * *

There are innumerable hotels that geyser jets of pleasant rememberings for me. That famed St. Nicholas of Cincinnati days—a bandbox of an inn that fairly drenched the patrons with a cut glass luxury. Even 25 years ago its employees changed to evening attire at sundown. Elevators were sprayed with a delicate scent every few hours and the operators wore buckled knee pants and silk stockings, the clerks full evening dress. Always on the breakfast plate a red rose, glistening with dew.

* * *

Then the old Planter's in St. Louis, with Tony Faust's restaurant hard by. Through the Planter's spacious lobby roamed the wide-hatted, high-booted cattle dealers from all points. Men who drank whiskey neat, smoked 50-cent cigars while in the city and bestowed silver dollar tips. Somehow I associate the Planter's with the venerable St. Charles in New Orleans in whose rambling dining room with looped hangings, I enjoyed a memorable breakfast—a fare of golden buckwheat cakes, scramgled eggs, sausage cakes and cinnamon-sprinkled apple rings and coffee, the like of which I have rarely tasted before or since.

* * *

For 13 years I resided as a paying patron at the Ritz Carlton in New York, and as a bouquet for its managing director, Albert Keller, I can add that not once in that long period was I justified in making a single complaint. So attached to it had I become that it was a long time before I could pass it without a wince—and to stop in now and then is like getting back home again.

* * *

I also love the rambling old Ritz in Paris, with its inside garden, where fountains rise and fall and patches of flowers are slit by cool gravel walks. I like the Place Vendome side concierge, with his wisp of imperial, so obeisant you'd never suspect he was one of the large stockholders. And Oliver, the head waiter, whose snow white chin whiskers are waxed and curled precisely like a dapper mustache. Hotels, hotels, hotels—like the imposing and restful Breakers at Palm Beach, the Coronado at Coronado Beach, the old timey but comfortable United States at Saratoga, the colorful bar at the Regis in Mexico City, the vie of Boul Mich from the old Congress in Chicago, and the mint julep at the Seelback in Louisville.

* * *

The most comfortable bed ever slept in was at The Dome in Cologne, and there was that jousty water front hotel in Antwerp—the Queen—from whose windows I watched the long line of carters driving their Beribboned Percherons with one line, all night. The Aldon in Berlin and the gold statue of the ex-Kaiser, where the manager greeted you at the door, acted as room service waiter, and ofter answered the call for a bell boy.

* * *

But the highlight of hotels to me was at the Amstel in Amsterdam, where at 10 o'clock at night I watched in a soft light as bright as day the drifting barges, and Dutch families aboard, along the canals while I ate a supper featuring almost coal black pumpernickel, chilled goat's milk in a stein and five varieties of the tastiest cheese I ever come upon. There's interest, too, around the Savoy in London, which was the original of Arnold Bennett's great novel, Imperial Hotel. Especially the head bell boy in frock coat and ledgerruled trousers. And Kitty and Collie, the bar maids.
